George Washington—"Father of Fort Wayne"
It is indeed fitting that this Totem be inspired with the thoughts of George Washington; for he was truly the "father of Fort Wayne", since it was his sending of soldiers, particularly those under "Mad" Anthony Wayne, into this territory that made it possible for the region to be incorporated into the United States in the troubled days following the Revolution.

Founding of Fort Wayne

Fort Wayne, from which our city that bears this name has grown, was built in fulfillment of the specific orders of George Washington. He, despite his complex problems in the East, had vision wide enough to prophesy, "I cannot forbear seeing that Miami Village (site of Fort Wayne) points to a very important post for the Union." His prophecy has indeed come true.

Northwest Territory

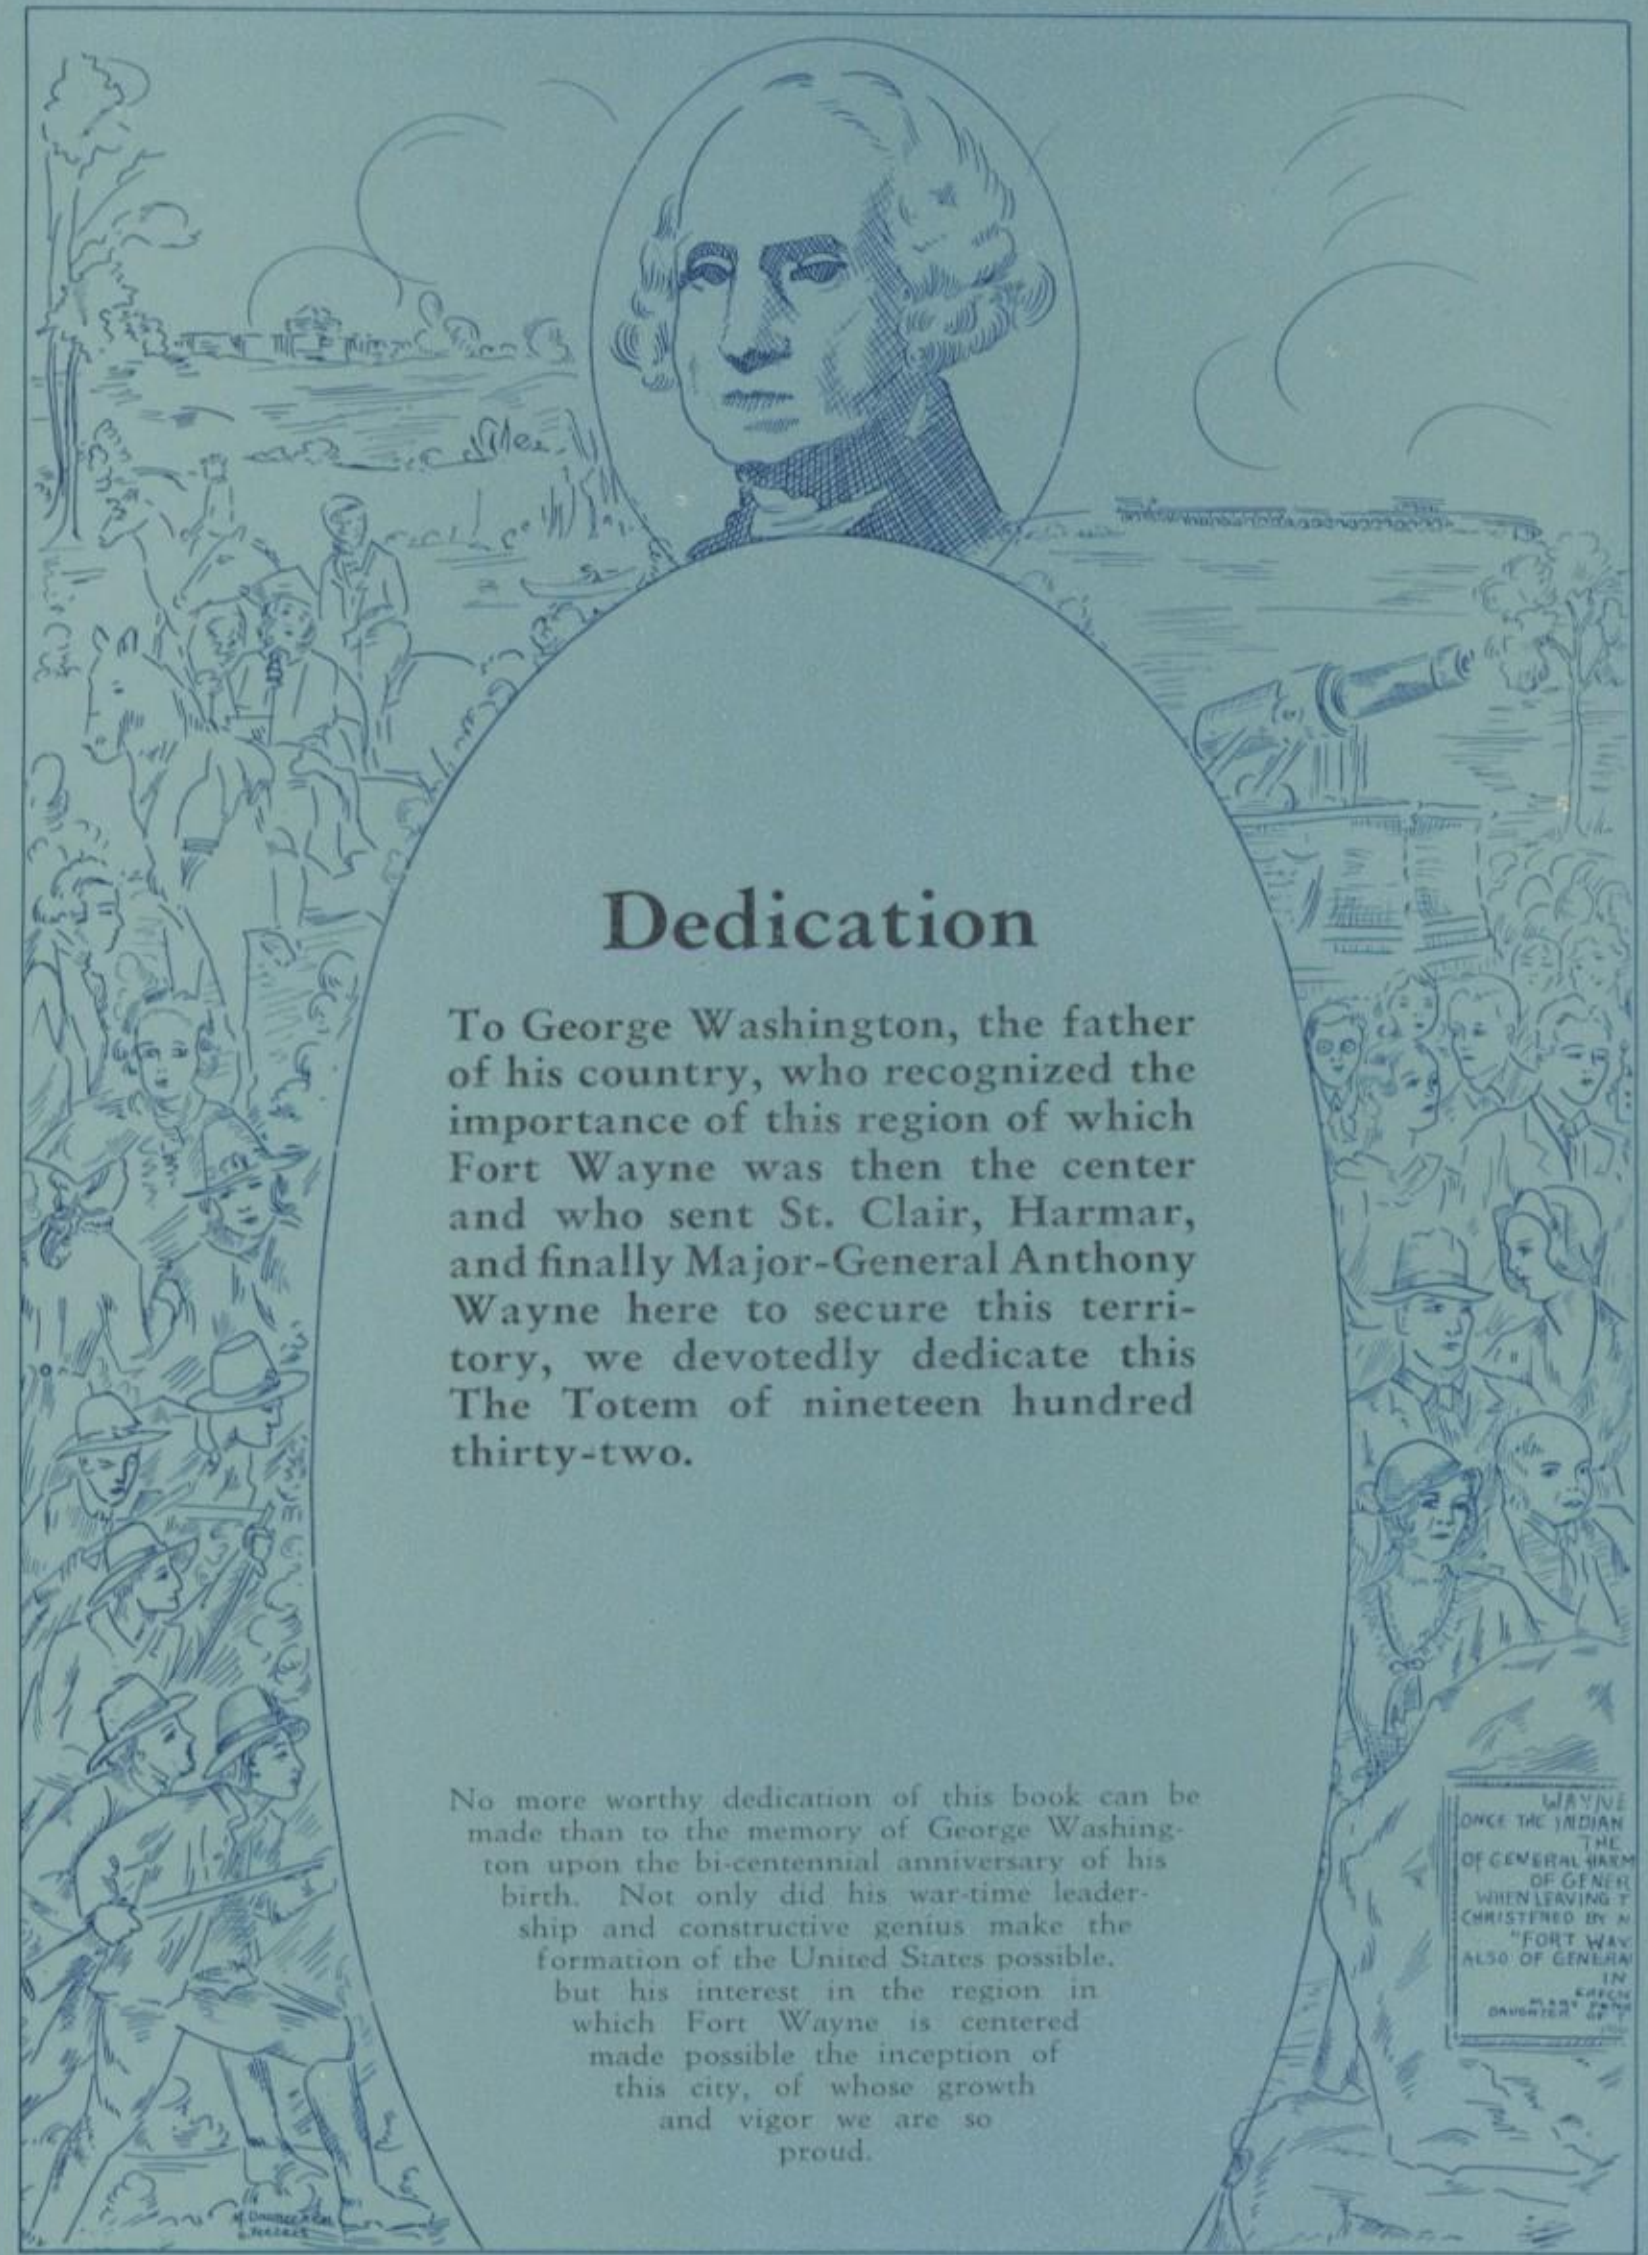

It was Washington's interest in the West that led in part to the formation in 1787 of the Northwest Territory, of which the state of Indiana was a part. And Fort Wayne, second largest city in this state, can be glad Washington advocated a survey of this region and said, "Nature has made such a display of her bounties in those regions that the more the country is explored the more it will rise in estimation."

Foreword

As the everlasting deeds of the life of George Washington, numbered among our great patriots, have been kept alive in our memory by tales of long-standing, we by publishing this book hope to perpetuate the happy days spent at South Side during 1932 by recording in story and picture the activities that have taken place here this year.

As we prize the paintings and drawings of Washington's time and the accounts of his day, all too few, which give us a picture of what Colonial days were like, so we hope that you will cherish this book, so that its photographs and writings will provide you in future years with concrete remembrance of your school days here.

Dedication

To George Washington, the father of his country, who recognized the importance of this region of which Fort Wayne was then the center and who sent St. Clair, Harmar, and finally Major-General Anthony Wayne here to secure this territory, we devotedly dedicate this The Totem of nineteen hundred thirty-two.

No more worthy dedication of this book can be made than to the memory of George Washington upon the bi-centennial anniversary of his birth. Not only did his war-time leadership and constructive genius make the formation of the United States possible, but his interest in the region in which Fort Wayne is centered made possible the inception of this city, of whose growth and vigor we are so proud.

Looking always into the future, George Washington, after the campaigns of St. Clair and Harmar and the triumphs of General Anthony Wayne, wished to secure the prosperity and happiness of this region. As a result he entered into treaties with the Indians, treaties which had far-reaching effects and left the country open for peaceful settlement and development. Fort Wayne today is truly a product of his foresight.

The School

Washington, of a wealthy and aristocratic family, had the educational advantages of his day, tutors, an extensive library, and cultured acquaintances. It is fortunate that he had this background; for he needed it in earning his living as a youth, solving problems as a leader, and mingling well with people of all ranks. . . . Today, every student has available many more educational opportunities than Washington had. It is necessary that this be so; for, instead of most of our high school graduates living a simple rural life as did the bulk of persons in Washington's time, they face a highly complex industrial, economic and social life, with much leisure time that must be used wisely, and with great demands upon them as citizens.

Senior Leaders

In accordance with custom, the seniors elected officers early in the year. Frank Dulin was again elected president of the class. He has been president of his freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior years.

The other officers are: Vice-president, Doris Vance; secretary, Mary Jane Zimmerman; social council, Mary Angela Berkey, Donald Hall, and Gertrude Jones. All have been very active in extra-curricular activities.

"Erstwhile Susan," the senior play, was a pinnacle in dramatic success. The characters were well portrayed by a most capable cast.

Many honors have been bestowed on members of the class. Members of the Quill and Scroll, National Honor Society, four year honor roll, and winners of gold D's in dramatics were announced. The valedictorian was Esther Howell and salutatorian was Mary Jane Zimmerman. The number of students elected for these honors was extraordinarily large. This exceptional class is the largest in the history of South Side.

Miss Adelaide Fiedler and Mr. Chappell have proved to be faithful advisers for the class as well as capable advisers.

Students selected as leaders of activities in the class were Ralph Fitch, Loretta Foellinger, Eugene Grant, Esther Howell, John Obringer, and Mary Jane Nelson.

Class of 1933

Under the direction of Robert Stone, president, the class of '33 had a successful year. As assistants to Robert, the junior class chose Byron Mann vice-president, Jane Vesey secretary, and Madalynne Sheets, Bradley Moring, and Miss Hazel Miller and Mr. Lloyd Whelan were chosen by the officers as advisers for the class. With their aid the annual Junior Banquet and Prom were held and reached the usual high mark.

Several clubs and other types of extra-curricular activity are open to juniors. Many juniors took advantage of their opportunity and became engaged in the life of the school. Some competently filled offices of various sorts.

The Lettermen's Club consists of boys having a major or two minor letters in sports. Robert Beery, a member of the junior class, served as secretary for the club both semesters. Robert was the only junior to hold a position in the club throughout the year.

The Girls' Athletic Association is an organization sponsoring the participation in sports outside of the regular school course. Edith Sommers and Agnes Blosser, both members of the junior class, served on the athletic executive committee during the entire year.

The Math-Science Club, an organization for those interested in mathematics and science, as the name suggests, chose John Brubaker from the junior class as treasurer for the first semester. Charles Strawbridge, also a junior, held the same position during the spring semester.

To be a member of the Student Players Club of South Side, one must attend Miss Marjorie Suter's drama classes for one semester. Even though this rather limits the membership, the juniors had a large number of members. Two junior girls, Elizabeth Yapple and Jane Vesey, were chosen as treasurer and secretary.

One of the oldest organizations at South Side is the Philalethian Literary Society. This club has a large membership, the juniors being well represented. The only junior girl to have the honor of holding office in this club during the year was Mary Jane Stults, who served as sergeant-at-arms the first semester.

The Art Club is another of the older organizations at South Side. Though many of its members are juniors, Jack Welch was the only one of this class to hold an office. Jack served as treasurer during the spring semester.

Several members of the junior class held major positions on the Times staff during the year. In the fall semester Jane Vesey was general manager, Nancy Yapp, managing editor, Mary Jane Stults, editor, and Paul Moellering, business manager. In the spring semester Mary Jane Kelsey was selected as news editor, Nancy Yapp as managing editor, and Winifred Gearhart and Mary Jane Stults as editors. Other juniors held minor positions.

As corollary to the school publication is the 1500 Club, where membership is based upon points won in work on the Times. Out of the junior members in the club three officers were taken, Mary Jane Stults, vice-president, Paul Moellering, secretary, and Wayne Grodrian, treasurer.

The Travel Club, one of the later organizations in South Side, has grown to a club of comparatively large size. Various foreign countries were considered in their programs. Paul Moellering was the only junior who was elected to an office during the year. He was treasurer during the first semester.

Several of the junior girls are members of the Wo-Ho-Ma Club. Of these girls Irene Klingler acted as president, Marian Johnson as secretary, and Wilma Baumgartner as vice-president, during the first semester. Grace Butler, the only junior girl to hold an office throughout the spring semester, served the club as secretary.

There were three outstanding events in the program of the music department this year, the Boys' Glee Club Concert given at the Harrison Hill Auditorium, the Christmas Cantata at the Plymouth Congregational Church, and the annual operetta. "Robin Hood" was the operetta chosen this time and was presented in a very creditable manner.

During the fall semester Herbert Merrill, a junior, served as president of the Wranglers Club. Other juniors who held offices were Mary Jane Kelsey as secretary and James Savage as treasurer. The last semester the Wranglers chose from the junior class Barbara Craw as secretary, and Bradley Moring as the assistant sergeant-at-arms.

Class of 1934

to lead the class in a successful year: Bob Parrish, a worthy and likeable chap, was re-elected president. He has had excellent co-operation from the other officers, Mark Gross, vice-president, and Paul Sutterlin, secretary. The social council, including Evelyn Schwartz, Junior Rippe, and Patsy Beall, made up the competent group in charge of the social affairs.

The main affair in which the class participated was the sophomore party, held on March 18. This year the party was under the general supervision of Bob Parrish, president. Junior Rippe was in charge of the ticket sale, and every good sophomore bought a ticket for the nominal sum of twenty-five cents.

The party was divided into courses. From eight until nine o'clock games, under leadership of Bob Parrish, were played in the gymnasium. One game was carried out in form of a track meet. The class was divided into four sides, and Hugo Winterrowd, Homer Hire, Dan Zehr, and Sam Rea were the captains of the respective sides. Other games were played with great enjoyment.

From nine until ten o'clock the members of the class enjoyed dancing. Bob Stone's orchestra furnished the music.

From ten until eleven o'clock the class was kept alive by a sparkling entertainment and refreshments. The entertainment chairman was Patsy Beall. The entertainment itself consisted of lively Irish tunes, tap dancing, and a clever little skit.

The refreshments, under general management of Evelyn Schwartz, consisted of ice cream, carried out in St. Patrick's colors, cocoa, and wafers.

George Ann Thornton, an artistic, capable member of the class, showed her talents in the decorating of the cafeteria.

The chaperones were Miss Pittenger, Miss VanGorder, Mr. Flint, and several parents of some of the members of the class.

In this class of jolly good fellows there are, as in every class, some who excel in brilliancy and really conquer the fundamentals of acquiring an education. The honor roll students really

The U. S. A., which is a branch of the Y. W. C. A., speaks for itself. It is for freshman and sophomore girls and is outstanding for friendship and service. These girls will vouch that they are better friends and have better friends by being members of this club. Mar-

Like Washington, who strove to give his best for our dear country, the majority of the freshmen, who have entered our portals during the past year, have volunteered their services to our school with the result that many creditable performances have been recorded in their favor.

Washington is distinguished not only by the brilliancy of his talents, but also by his moral strength, his sound judgment and his plain but excellent understanding. The freshman class has already a good start in following in the footsteps of Washington, for they seem to be a broad-minded group of boys and girls with high standards of morals and good judgment. They understand us very well, indeed, for it took them no time at all to accept our conventions and traditions and to fall in line with the speeding upper classmen in obeying them.

Washington is said to have been a very diligent student, and, from the reports of the various teachers who teach freshman subjects, our new "frosh" friends are to be highly praised in the Washington was born a natural leader. His social standing gave him early pre-eminence over his chums. His natural leadership, developed in this way, strengthened so that from the day of the French and Indian War, through the Revolutionary War, and during the trying years that followed when the bonds of statehood were being knit, Washington stood out as the guide and counsellor of his people. . . . Today the high school organizations provide opportunities for learning leadership through activities in these groups. Not only leadership, but the ability to follow leaders and to work with classmates, is cultivated. "Our Country can fail only through lack of leadership," it has been said; but with our organization functioning as they do, those who love our country need not worry about the supply of Washingtons of the future.

Football

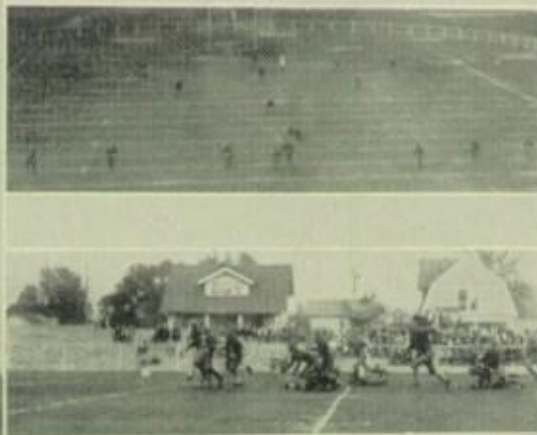

South Side's football team enjoyed the most successful season it has had for three years. Coach Lundy Welborn developed the team around ten men of experience. Much of the team's success was due to a capable supply of reserves. The Archers won their first seven games, then lost the last two, one to Central, South Side's arch enemy, the other to Muncie. But none of the games was won or lost except by the hardest kind of a battle.

Portland was the first opponent of the Archers, and the Green and White won by a score of 18-6. Because the day was very warm, the game was rather slow. Portland surprised the Green and White by working a sleeper play right after the kick-off; and, as a result, the Panthers were in a position to score, which they did on the next play. But then the Archers pulled themselves together and proceeded to take charge of the game. Domer and Fleming each scored a touchdown on line plays. Near the last of the game Don Powell intercepted a Portland pass and ran eighty yards for a touchdown, which was probably the feature of the game.

On the following Saturday, the team went to Garrett, where it added another victory to the one gained the week before. The Railroaders had an average-sized team but they possessed an exceptionally fast backfield. The Archers stopped the Garrett backs and proceeded to make two scores of their own to win by a score of 12-0. Phil Domer scored one of the touchdowns on a plunge. The second touchdown came on a fifty-five yard run by Bob Beery.

A week later the Archers played their first home game of the season when they met the Bluffton Tigers at the South Side stadium. This game was not much more than a practice game for the Green and White, which won by a score of 56-0. Bill LaPointe was the most outstanding player of the game. His passing, with Banet on the receiving end, and his running were quite outstanding.

Richmond was the next foe for the South Siders. The Red Devils won the year before, and the Archers were out for revenge. They got it when Richmond was defeated by a score of 27-0. The passing attack of the Green and White was the feature of this game, in which LaPointe did the passing and Banet did most of the receiving. The Archers also showed a powerful running attack with Domer, Jones, and LaPointe

John DeHaven

Sam Henderson

doing most of the ball carrying. Jones also added a point after touchdown by means of a place kick.

When Wabash came here the following Saturday, the Archers were again out to get revenge because of a defeat given them by the Hill Climbers the last year. Wabash put up a stubborn battle, but, nevertheless, they were beaten by a score of 22-0. The only score made during the first half was made early in the game when Jones scored on a double reverse play, then added the extra point by means of a place kick.

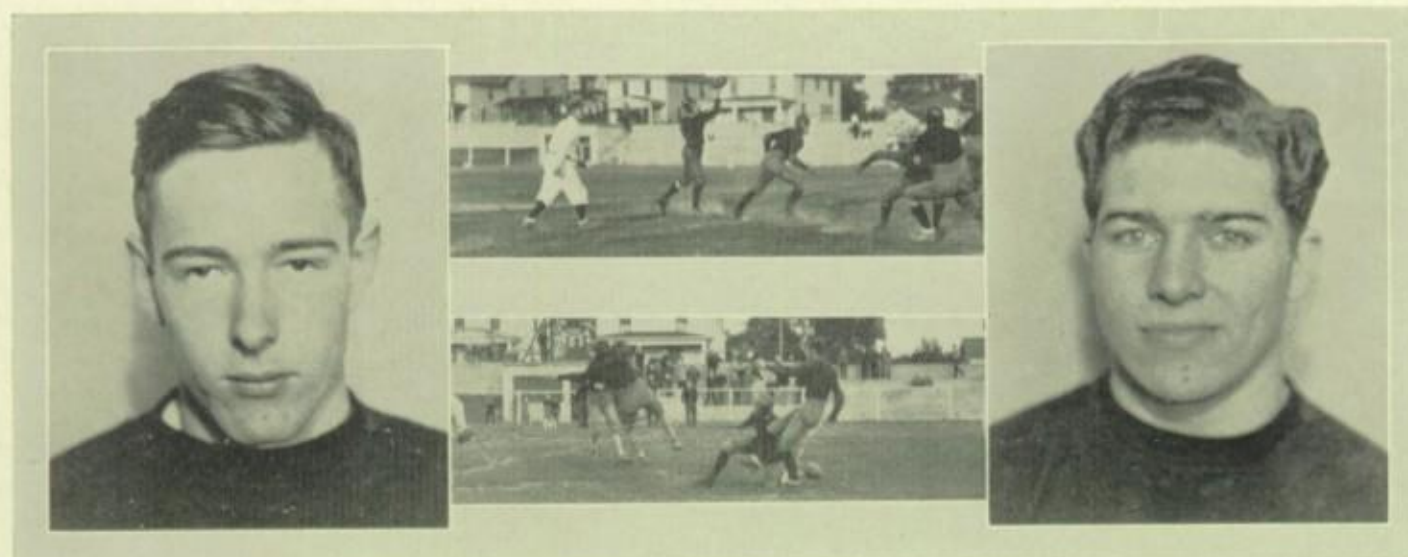

On the next Saturday South Side played its first city game when it met and defeated Central Catholic, 33-6, on the Archers' athletic field. During the first half, which ended 7-6 in favor of the Southerners, Central Catholic put up a very stubborn battle. The uptown school scored first on a forward pass over center, with the pass receiver outrunning the Archer secondary defense. During the second half South Side opened up a hard running attack to add four more touchdowns.

The following Friday night, October 30, South Side engaged in its second city game, at the Northerner athletic field. This was the first time any South Side football team ever played night football. North Side started the game determined to defeat the Green and White and came very close to scoring during the first quarter. But then the Archers made several substitutions and led by Domer, the Archer fullback, they soon made a march for a touchdown. A short time later during the latter part of the second quarter Jones got loose for a fifty-five yard run to a touchdown. Jones kicked both points after touchdowns. At the beginning of the second half the Redskins made their only touchdown. During the first of the last quarter, the Archers scored their third touchdown, making the final score 20-6.

Chester Ensley

A week and a day later, on November 7, came the most important game of the South Side schedule, South Side versus Central. This game decided the city and N. E. I. C. championship, which Central won when they defeated the Green and White by a score of 12-13. Although the Archers were outweighed, they put up a valiant fight. South Side scored the first touchdown when Fleming kicked the ball over the goal line and Banet fell on the ball. The kick for point was blocked.

The last game of the season ended in defeat for the South Siders; Muncie winning by a score of 13-0. The first half was scoreless with both teams playing on even terms, but during the second half Muncie pushed over two touchdowns and one extra point. The Archers had two chances to score; but one was lost on a fumble, and the other time the Bearcats held the Archers within the one-yard line.

Phil Domer

Fremont Jones

Delbert Disler

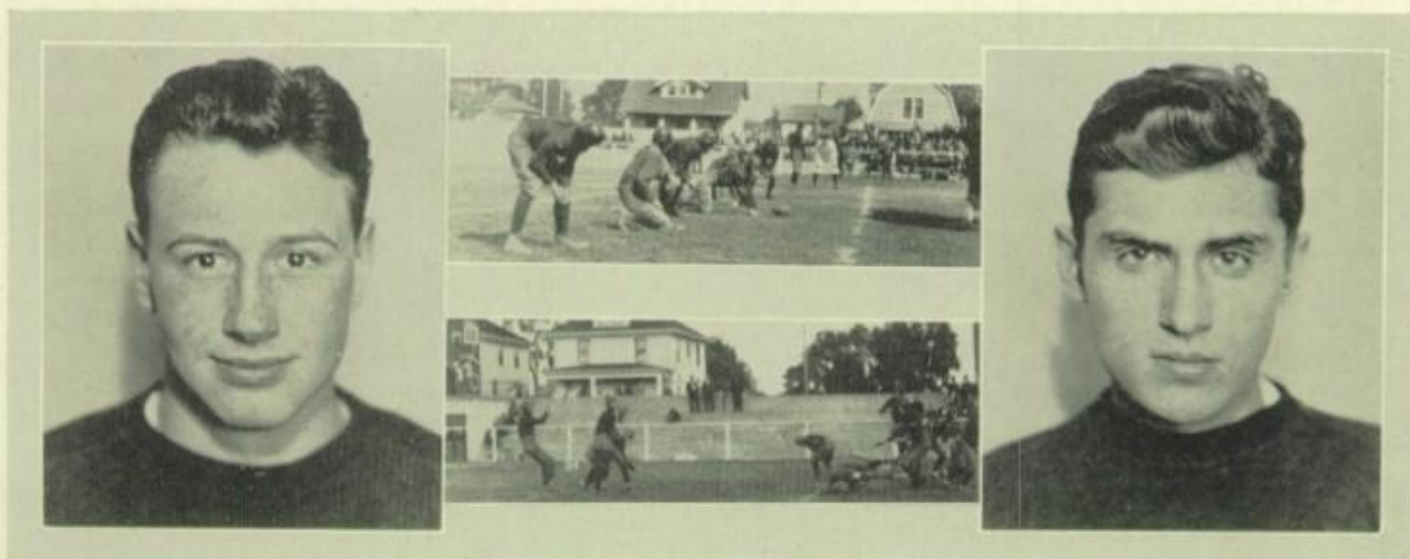

As is usually the case when South Side has a good team one year, it loses all its men the next year. Men who played their last game for South Side this year are Robert Null, end; Don Hall, tackle; Harold Hastings, tackle; Charles Southern, guard; Victor McCoy, guard; Warren Baker, center; Delbert Disler, guard; George Thompson, tackle; Ursal Sprunger, tackle; Charles Burt, end; Jack Fleming, quarterback; Sam Henderson, quarterback; Philip Domer, fullback; Joseph Lightfoot, fullback; Fremont Jones, halfback; and Robert Hosler, halfback. The loss of all these men will be felt greatly, but a number of veterans will be back to form the nucleus for next year's team. With Chester Ensley, "Red" Bevington, Don Powell, John DeHaven, Herbert Banet, Robert Beery, and William LaPointe back, the best kind of a team can be expected next year.

South Side placed three men on the mythical "All-City" team, the three men being William LaPointe, Jack Fleming, and Don Powell. Each was a consistent player for the entire season. LaPointe, playing halfback, gained much ground by bucking the line and sweeping around the ends. He was a triple-threat man, as he could pass and kick, also. Jack Fleming, quarterback and captain, played a very brilliant game, besides having complete control over the team as its leader. Fleming was also the captain of the "All-City" team. Don Powell, guard, played a fine game, though only a sophomore.

Don Hall

Robert Null

Forest Bevington

Much credit must be given to the student body, to the coach, and to the players themselves for the successful football season which South Side enjoyed this year.

This year the student body supported the team as it never has before. The stadium was packed at every game and, when the team was in a tight place, the students cheered the team the most.

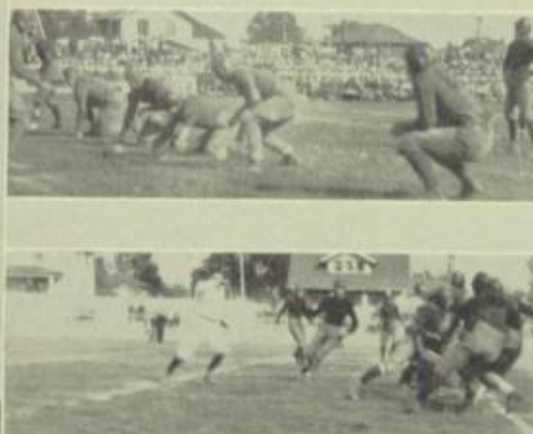

Then the coach, Lundy Welborn, spent much of his time with the team.

He gave all of his time to the players, doing everything for them that he could. If any boy needed any particular help so as to improve his playing, Lundy would help him.

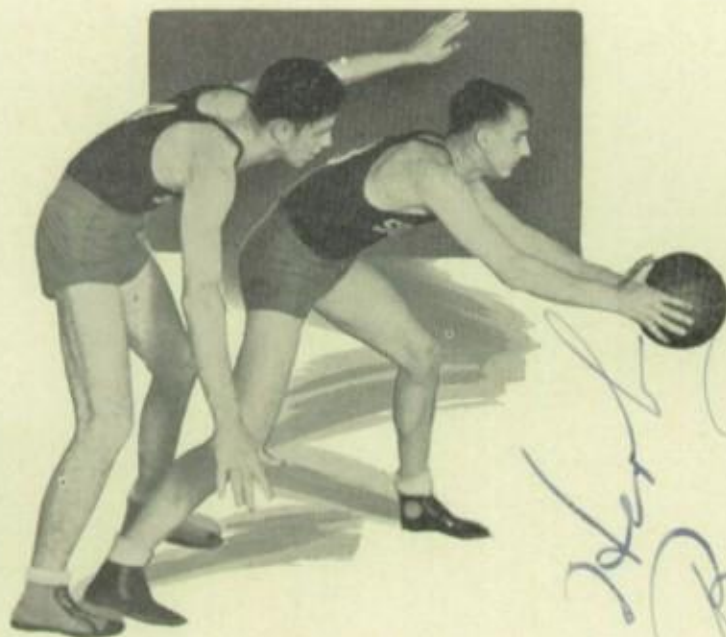

Then the players themselves must be credited for the success of the team. About thirty boys went to football camp before school started in order to get into condition for the early games. Then all during the season the players kept the right attitude toward the game. They kept training rules, and gave up many pleasures in order to make the team a success. The squad this year consisted of seventy-five members and every one contributed towards the success of the team.

South Side's basketball team ended a very successful season on February 27, at Muncie, as the Green and White won fifteen games of a nineteen-game schedule, plus a charity game, and had a winning streak of thirteen games up until the last game, that with Muncie.

Out of the first games the Archers were able to win only fifty percent of their attempts. Garrett, our first opponent, was defeated by a score of 27 to 16 at the Railroaders' gymnasium. On the following evening the Archers were host to Auburn, with the Auto City carrying away the honors by a score of 15 to 13. It was anybody's game in this contest until the crack of the final gun. Marion's Giants took the measurement of the Green and White basket tossers to the tune of 15 to 25 in the next encounter. In the fourth attempt the Archers emerged victoriously by winning from Bluffton by a score of 15 to 12. The fifth encounter of the Archers' also proved to be a success when they downed Broad Ripple of Indianapolis 27 to 10. In this game the Green and White defense functioned almost perfectly, the Broad Ripple team being limited to two field goals.

With the sixth game, a city scrap with Central Catholic, the Archers went down to defeat with a score of 13 to 30. The Green and White machine failed to function until the third quarter and then it was too late. This was the first win that the uptown school has ever scored over the South Siders.

The Archers' next game was a charity game with North Side which the Archers won by a score of 31-15.

With the next fourteen games, it was an entirely different story; for all but the last game, the one with Muncie, were victories. Because of these victories the Archers won the Conference title and the city title. The first of this string of victories was a win over Columbia City in an overtime battle, the only overtime of the season. When the playing time ended the score was knotted at 19-all. Then during the three minutes' overtime the Archers counted one free throw which made the winning margin for the Green and White, the final score being 19 to 20. Then came the first city series contest, a court battle with the North Side Redskins. This game was also a close one, but the Southern team won 24 to 21. Another city game followed, this one being played with Central's Tigers. The game with the Blue and White was another typical battle such as these two schools always put on. When the final gun cracked, the score stood 20 to 16 in favor of the Green.

Kendallville fell before the Archers' onslaught in the following encounter by a score of 29 to 18. Next to fall before the Green was New Haven, which lost 25 to 15 in a hard-fought battle. Emerson of Gary brought a very reputable team to Fort Wayne to form the next bit of opposition for the Archers. But the Norse-men returned to Gary on the short end of a 25 to 20 score. A week later the Portland Panthers brought their quintet to the Archer hardwood floor. The Panthers were turned back in comparatively easy fashion, the final score being 32-17.

On January 30, Decatur was the Archers' visitor. The Archers had lost three previous games to Decatur in as many years and this time they were out for revenge, which they got. In a very close defensive game the Archers bested the Yellow Jackets 15 to 10. A week later occurred another city game, this one with Central again. This game was a deciding game for the city title. Central started out like a whirlwind by taking a seven-point lead in the first few minutes. The Tigers held this lead nearly all of the first half, but a scoring spree by Trulock wiped out this lead just before the half ended. From then on the Green and White had the situation well under control, the final score being 24 to 22.

The next three games were won with comparative ease. Hartford City fell before the South Side quintet 31 to 24. Then came the second Redskin game and the Archers were the victors of a defensive battle. Although the Northerners fought hard, they met defeat 17 to 12. The following game was with Mishawaka at their gymnasium. The Green team emerged on the long end of a 21 to 17 score.

Then came the final game of the schedule, a battle with Muncie's Bearcats on the opponents' floor. This was the Archers' worst defeat. The first half was a close battle the score being 14 to 10, but in the next half the Bearcats hit from all angles and ran up a big score, the final score being 47 to 19.

Sectional Tournament

When the regular schedule had been completed, the team started preparations for the sectional tournament, to which

McClure, Geyer, Schuster, Nelson, Golden, and Disler

South Side was host. Although the Archers did not win this tournament, they made a very credible showing by going to the finals even though they had the most difficult drawing of the tournament. The ten men who were selected for the tournament are as follows: Jack Fleming, Delbert Disler, Wayne Trulock, Herbert Banet, Fremont Jones, Byron Mann, Forrest Bevington, Roger Schuster, Robert Beery, and Jim Menefee.

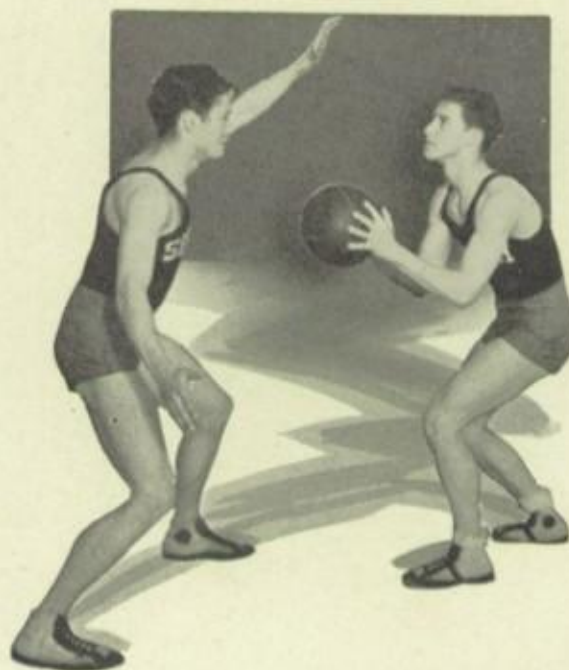

Elmhurst was the first tourney opponent for the Green and White players. This was Elmhurst's first sectional tournament and the Archers had very little trouble in disposing of them, the second string men being used most of the game.

In the second round on Saturday morning our team met and defeated Monmouth with little trouble, again the second string players being used for the greater part of the game.

Then in the afternoon came the closest, the most interesting, and the hardest fought game of the tournament, the battle with the Central Tigers. This fray had to go an extra period before the winner could be decided, the winning point being made on a free throw by Disler. The Archers started by taking a seven-point lead in the first quarter but the up-town school did not give up, and just before the end of the playing time the score was tied up at 18-all. Then the gun! In the overtime period each school scored one field goal. Then just before the end of the overtime Delbert Disler was fouled and got one free throw. This he made good. Again the gun cracked, but the final score was 20 to 21 in favor of the Archers.

That night South Side met the Decatur Yellow Jackets. They had had an easy schedule for the day and, consequently, were in good condition, while the members of the Archer team were tired and worn from the hard game with Central in the afternoon. Right from the beginning of the game, things went against the Green and White. At the half the score was 15 to 2 in favor of the Yellow Jackets. But the Archers had not lost their fighting spirit and through sheer determination lessened the lead until the score was 21 to 15 at the end of the game in favor of Decatur.

Again the reserve team of the Green and White enjoyed a successful season, winning fifteen games of an eighteen-game schedule.

Track

South Side enjoyed a prosperous track season this year, just as it did a successful football and basketball season. The team was one made up of many veterans, it being built around ten men who had experience of previous seasons. The ones around whom the team was built are Jack Fleming, "Red" Bevington, Gordon Baumgartner, Chet Ensley, Bob Clymer, Bob Null, Roger Pierson, Niel Perry, Bob Beery, and "Chuck" Burt. The team was well balanced with no special event being exceptionally outstanding.

On April 2, the Archers took part in its first meet of the season, when ten entrants competed in the South Bend invitational meet, which was held at the Notre Dame Field House. In this meet, the Green and White scored eight points as the result of a third in the 60-yard dash by Ensley and a second in the mile run by Clymer. One week later South Side participated in the state indoor meet which was held at the Butler Field House. The Archers fared a little better when they scored thirteen points as a result of one first place, two seconds, and one third place.

Then came the triangular meet between Auburn, Decatur, and South Side at our stadium. Auburn won this contest but was pushed quite hard by the Archers, the scores being Auburn 61 points, South Side 53 points, and Decatur 3 points. In this meet the outstanding event was the 100-yard dash which was won by Chet Ensley in the excellent time of 10 seconds flat. A contest with the Decatur Yellow Jackets occurred on the following Wednesday. The Archers had very little trouble in defeating the Decatur team, the final score ending 71 to 19 in favor of the Green and White.

Other meets in which the South Side team played a part are the North Side relays on April 23, the Kokomo relays a week later, the N. E. I. C. meet on May 7. In the middle of the next week a dual meet was held with the Garrett Railroaders. Then on May 14, the sectional meet took place, followed by the state outdoor meet one week later.

In these contests the most consistent performers were Jack Fleming, "Red" Bevington, Bob Clymer, Chet Ensley, Gordon Baumgartner, and Bob Beery.

Intra-Mural Sports

Cross country not only introduced the intramural sport season, but it also ushered in an entirely new point system for the participants of intramural sports. The new system provides for a minor S letter award for all boys having 100 points. The points are to be awarded for proficiency in intramural athletics.

Louis A. Briner, boys' physical education director, designated the period from September 14 to October 17 for the twenty-one entrants of the cross country team to train themselves for the last run which was to determine the winners of the sport. The honors were carried off by Robinette and Hall, who both finished the one and three-tenths mile course in six minutes and six seconds. The honors of the lightweight division were snatched by McLeish with Boerger and Stone coming in second and third. Those active in the sport throughout the season were Robinette, Hall, Bremer, Hackney, Stone, Shedron, and Wiegand.

At the first meeting of the intramural athletes held in September, ninety-five boys signed up for tag football. The boys were divided into two classes, heavyweight and lightweight. Five teams signed up in the heavyweight class, while six entered the light division.

In both classes, the tournament was hotly contested. In the heavyweight class, the Hoosier Midgets and the Athletics were running neck and neck. Finally the Hoosier Midgets came out on top, winning all of their games. In the lightweight division, the Eagles won the championship, with the Badgers closely trailing them.

The sport of tag football proved its popularity by the increase of thirty participants over last year's entrants.

Volleyball again proved to be a very popular intramural sport this year. During the entire volleyball season fifty-four boys took part in the sport. The entrants joined themselves together into seven teams. The teams were Nameless, Soccers, Original Six, All Stars, Lazy Six, Spikers, and Good-For-Nothings. The teams practiced daily during the fifth period.

After the teams had practiced several weeks, Mr. Briner announced that a tournament would be played.

The tournament lived up to the expectations. All of the games were hotly contested. In the final fray, the Spikers and the Gridiron were matched. After a gruelling game, the Spikers finally came off with the championship.

Again wrestling showed an increase in popularity. More boys entered the sport this year than ever before. Sixty boys took active part in the wrestling schedule. So that the game might be fair, the boys were divided into five groups.

Fisher was declared winner of the class, consisting of boys weighing from 95 to 105 pounds.

Staley defeated Zurbrugg, winning the championship of the next class, while Weikel annexed the title of the 125-to-135 pound class by defeating Marlin.

In the two heavy classes, Miller and DeHaven emerged victorious. Miller defeated Kock, while DeHaven overcame Carter.

As in former years, basketball held the spotlight in intramural sports. The only difference between intramural basketball of this year and of former years was in the division of the weight classes. This year Mr. Briner installed a new weight system. In this manner, it was arranged that no advantage was given to any athlete because of his weight. During the basketball season 267 boys participated in 95 games.

In the heavyweight division, there were 23 teams that fought for the championship. The teams were placed in four leagues, each of which played a complete round-robin tournament. At the conclusion of the league season, three teams from each league were allowed to enter a final elimination tournament. In the final fray the Bullets defeated the Bobcats, the score ending 9 to 8.

The middleweight division, the newly organized division, had its start with eleven teams entered. These teams were placed into two leagues where they played a round-robin tournament. The four teams in each league, with highest percentages were eligible to enter an elimination tournament. After a grueling battle, the Tigers emerged victorious.

There were six teams entered in the lightweight division. These teams also played in a round-robin tournament. At the end of the season, the four teams having the highest percentages of "wins" battled in another tournament for the championship. The honors were won by a team known as the "Foresters."

Girls' Athletic Association

Under the guidance of Alice J. Patterson and Gretchen Smith, the Girls' Athletic Association successfully completed another year of activities. The officers who piloted this organization through its successful year are: President, Eileen Allen; vice-president, Elna Fell; secretary, Edith Sommers; manager of sports, Agnes Blosser; sophomore representative, Joan Beerman; and freshman representative, Vera Fremion.

Tennis was the first fall sport for the girls. A class tournament was held in which Eileen Allen, Senior; Ruth Roebel, Junior; Martha Suter, Sophomore; and Lucille Sheets, Freshman; came out victors. In the finals, Martha Suter was made queen of tennis by defeating Ruth Roebel. A doubles tournament was also held in which Mary Kellogg and Virginia Warren won the honors.

As in former years, hockey proved to be the most interesting fall sport for the upper-classmen. After a season of many thrilling games, the Senior team emerged victorious. Those who composed the senior team are: Virginia Bond, Elna Fell, Mary Challenger, Dorothy Wells, Mary Klein, Mary Butler, Lucy Turner, Eileen Allen, Helen Walters, Ardis Locker and Helen Fenning.

Speedball, the fall sport for freshman girls, turned out well. Twelve teams were formed and a round robin tournament was held in which Lucile Sheet's team was the winner.

Volleyball, the first indoor sport, was exceedingly popular with both freshmen and upperclassmen. The two senior teams led by Mary Challenger and Mary Klein enjoyed a successful season. Mary Challenger's team consisting of Helen Walters, Dorothy Wells, Ardis Locker, Elna Fell, and Jean Schrantz emerged from the tournament with no defeats.

As usual, the most popular indoor sport, basketball, was hailed with pleasure. A round robin tournament was held, and the Junior team captained by Agnes Blosser was held to a tie with Helen Ehrman's Sophomore team for first place. In the honor tournament which was held, the Junior team again under their captain, Agnes Blosser, won the laurels by defeating both the Senior and Sophomore teams.

Baseball came with spring, which allowed our home-run players to show their skill. This baseball season was outstanding because of the large number of girls who took part. Ninety freshmen girls signed up for baseball, the largest class group to ever go out for this sport. Besides these freshmen, many sophomores, juniors, and seniors participated in the spring sport.

In the late spring, all attention was focused upon track. The events of the track meet, May 6, were relays, high

The Student Leaders' Training Class enjoyed its sixth year under the supervision of Miss Patterson. This class met every Tuesday after school to receive instructions in first aid, officiating in tournaments, and instructing gym classes. The Student Leaders were Dorothy Wells, Mary Challenger, Helen Fremion, Mary Klein, Eileen Allen, Dorothy Bremer, Alma Hoeltje, Mary Porter, Alice Mae Seibold, Eleanor Cupp, and Eileen South.

One of the favorite later winter sports was tumbling. Because so many girls wished to participate in this activity, two classes were formed. The beginners class met every Tuesday afternoon and were under the guidance of Miss Smith; while under Miss Patterson's supervision, the advanced class met every Thursday evening.

An outstanding event of the athletic year was the annual exhibition, which was held April 29. The entire program pictured in miniature an Olympic meet which contrasted sports and activities in South Side with those in other countries. One of the main features was the different folk dances of Ireland, Scotland, France, England, Denmark, and the United States. Tumbling was again a high point in the year's exhibition. Special stunts in the way of novelties were a roller skating exhibition, shadow boxing, and fencing.

A large crowd turned out for the Olympics. Almost every girl who takes gymnasium participated in the colossal event. The Girls' Olympics was given because the United States is host to the Olympic games this year. The Speakers' Bureau advertised the affair to the first period classes.

Next year, although the prospects are bright, the G. A. A. loses many outstanding athletes by graduation. Some of the girls who graduate are Dorothea Wells, Mary Challenger, Mary Klein, Elna Fell, Virginia Bond, Ardis Locker, Helen Fennig, Mary Ellen Butler, Eileen Allen, and Lucy Turner. Despite the loss of these girls, Miss Patterson still has such outstanding stars as Agnes Blosser, Ruth Roebel, Helen Fremion, Edith Sommers, Martha Suter, and Joan Beerman.

For their excellent work and for earning the required number of points, Virginia Allen, Dorothea Wells, Mary Klein, Elna Fell, Edith Sommers, Helen Fremion, Alma Hoeltje, Virginia Bond, Ruth Roebel, Mary Challenger, and Dorothy Bremer were awarded sweaters with a big white S in the center.

Girls are awarded points for going out for the various sports offered by the G. A. A. After their first year out for a sport, they are awarded their class numeral in green. For their second year out, they receive their letter of sport in green; for their third year, they are given a white circle on which their previous awards are placed. If after completing four years of G. A. A. work they have made 1200 points, they receive the varsity letter S.

Miss Alice Patterson and Miss Gretchen Smith, who is a new teacher here this year, have proved to be very capable instructors for the G. A. A. Since these teachers have control over approximately one thousand girls in gym and extra-curricular work, much credit is due to them.

Math-Science Club

The Math-Science Club was one of the first clubs to be organized at South Side. Perhaps it is for this reason that it has such an excellent purpose: To give students information on the practical application of mathematics and science.

The club is fortunate in having several science and mathematics teachers interested in its work. Much of the progress of the club can be traced to Miss Adelaide Feidler, Miss George Anna Hodgson, Mr. Lloyd Whelan, Mr. Elna Gould, and Mr. Louie Hull.

The club tries to arrange the meetings so that one time the students can put on the program themselves and the next time they can have an outside speaker or one of the teachers interested either in mathematics or science to talk. Some of these speakers for the past year are Miss Mary Paxton, Robert Null, John Snyder, Mr. Fred Smith, chief metallurgist at the International Harvester Company, Mr. E. S. Gould, Robert Feustel, Mary Angela Berkey, and Paul Geisenhof.

Besides having interesting speakers at the Math-Science meetings they also have a social period which is under the direction of Esther Howell. During this time the members play games of many different kinds. Miss Hodgson is club adviser and Miss Fiedler is adviser of the program committee.

Lettermen's Club

The Lettermen's Club under the supervision of A. Verne Flint has passed through another successful season and the guidance of their two-year old constitution. Aiding Mr. Flint were the president, Jack Fleming; vice-president, Forrest Bevington, and Secretary-treasurer, Robert Beery.

This club has one of the most worthy purposes of any in South Side. As stated in their constitution, this organization was formed "to create and maintain a high standard of character, sportsmanship and conduct in our school. We intend to co-operate with the principal, dean, and faculty to aid them in carrying out their purposes." The membership is limited to boys who have received their letter in one major or two minor sports. At present, there are 28 members.

The activities of this club have been numerous as well as varied. This year they installed an initiation service. In keeping with the spirit of the Bicentennial Celebration, these boys planted two trees at the northeast corner of the school. On December 5, they held their annual hard-times dance, which was very exclusive this year since no stags were allowed. They sponsored one of the pep sessions, which, needless to say, instilled much pep in the student body.

Booster Club

Probably the most important thing done by the Booster Club this year was the sponsoring of all the Tea Dances held in the cafeteria. In addition to this, the members of the club sold refreshments at the games held at South Side.

Many other activities were sponsored by the club, which is comprised of members selected by the faculty. Six faculty members are in charge of the departments of the club. Miss Rowena Harvey is general chairman and in charge of publicity. Miss Nelle Covalt heads the concessions department. In charge of the dancing, music, and art departments are Miss Gertrude Oppelt, Mr. Roland Schafer, and Miss Mary Helen Ley.

All the members of the organization were hard workers and proved that they could be relied upon during the year. Another important project was the decorating of the gymnasium and stadium for the basketball and football contests. This club was also responsible for the large signboard above the stadium wall with our schedule on it.

The Booster Club was organized to promote scholarship and to boost all activities staged at South Side. The faculty members of the club choose students whom they feel capable of serving the best interests of the school. Usually two or three students are chosen by each faculty member.

1500 Club

When many students did such remarkable work on The South Side Times and Totem that they were deemed worthy of some recognition of honor, a suitable method had to be found. Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser of both publications, together with Bud Beck, former Times general manager, now a faculty adviser of a high school paper in Bronxville, N. Y., created a new club known as the 1500 Club. In order to become a member of this organization, one is required to earn 1500 points according to the requirements of the point sheet which Bud Beck devised.

With Loretta Foellinger as president of the club and Mary Jane Stults, Wayne Grodrian, and Paul Moellering, filling the positions of vice-president, treasurer, and secretary respectively, the 1500 Club has realized many of its projects. Last fall before the Bluffton-South Side football game the members sponsored a pep dance and cleared $17.50. They also have been at the head of several pot-lucks, ran the check room during the tournament, and gave a combined dance and potluck near the end of this semester.

Gold jeweled pins signifying that 10,000 points have been earned have been awarded this year to Jane Vesey, ex-general manager of The Times; Loretta Foellinger, present general manager of the school paper; John Obringer, editor of the Totem; Robert Masters; Richard Mariotte; and Paul Moellering.

The Totem

Under the capable supervision of the editor, John H. Obringer, and with the help of the staff, The Totem of 1932 was developed into another outstanding book. This year's theme, commemorating the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington, has made a most beautiful and attractive theme for the annual.

Charlotte Gillie and Patti Savage were circulation managers for the annual this year. They made speeches, interviewed students, and did every possible thing to boost the circulation of the book. A very attractive plan was used for carrying on the campaign. A huge chart was made on which there was a car climbing up hill. As subscriptions came in, the car climbed higher until it reached the top.

During the first week of the campaign, subscriptions came in very slowly. But, with only three days to go and with over 300 subscriptions needed, the seniors were awakened from a deep sleep and brought in the required amount. Thus The Totem was assured for the graduating class of 1932. Mary Cassidy turned in more subscriptions than any other senior, thus winning the free Totem offered to the student who turned in the most.

For the first time since The Totem has been published, group pictures of all students, excepting seniors, have been used. Underclassman groups of forty were taken and printed in the book so that every student in school might get his picture in the annual.

Another feature of the present annual is the fact that it has in it the most complete group of activities ever published in The Totem. Every active organization is represented in the book, and everything that interests the students has a place.

As the reader glances through the book, he does not realize the amount of work necessary to put out an annual. First the theme must be selected; then the stories are written. The art work must be done, and the pictures must be taken. After this the pictures must be pasted on a cardboard sheet and taken to the engravers. Then they are made into cuts and proofs are taken. After this the persons in the pictures are identified. Then the stories are sent into the print shop and set up; proof of them is sent back to be read for corrections.

A dummy is made of the book. In this dummy everything that appears in The Totem is pasted. After the dummy is completed, it is sent to the printers for the final steps. When it has been printed, the covers are put on, and the books are returned to the school where they are distributed.

All of the type was set at the School Press and most of the photography was taken by students, as The Totem has two cameras. At the top of the page is a picture showing the pressmen busy at work setting type for the yearbook.

The Times

Once again with the co-operation of the entire staff, The South Side Times completed a successful year. Once again they won many awards. All this was accomplished despite the current depression.

Much of the success of the paper was due to the efficient staffs, which were developed from green material. Heading the staff in the fall was Jane Vesey. Comprising the remainder of it were Paul Moellering as business manager; Mary Jane Stults as editor; Winifred Gearhart as copy editor; Loretta Foellinger, news editor; James Savage, make-up editor; Nancy Yapp, managing editor; Richard Mariotte, business research director; Robert Masters, advertising manager; and Leon Underwood, circulation manager.

Loretta Foellinger filled the general manager's chair for the spring term. Assisting her were Richard Mariotte, business manager; Nancy Yapp, managing editor; Winifred Gearhart and Mary Jane Stults, editors; Mary Jane Kelsey, news editor; Elinor Seiber, copy editor; Edwin Cook and John Brown, make-up editors; Robert Masters and Thomas Kaplan, advertising managers; Leon Underwood, circulation manager; and Jane Vesey, student counsellor. Miss Rowena Harvey again proved to be a very capable leader as faculty adviser. Aiding the major staff were the 160 members, who worked hard to make the paper a success.

These staffs, working diligently and smoothly, issued many interesting editions during the year. Every Thursday papers of four or six pages were printed for distribution to the many students who subscribed.

In addition to these regular editions was the Christmas Joke issue, published during Christmas vacation. This paper was four pages and was made up entirely of jokes. It was mailed to subscribers. An April Fool paper was printed on April 1. Stories for this issue were written by members of the staff. On February 18 appeared a special Times commemorating the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

As a feature for the "Back to School Night," a Tiny Times was published.

In the sectional issue there were 16 pages and in the regional 10 pages. Supplements of the regular weekly paper were also printed. For the Commencement the seniors on the staff published a Senior issue. Loretta Foellinger was in general charge of this issue, and Dick Mariotte was in charge of advertising. This paper was distributed free of charge at the Commencement exercises.

Wranglers Club

The club that "speaks for itself". That's Wranglers, since its primary purpose is to promote all public-speaking activities in South Side. However, that is not all this club accomplishes; it raises all the funds necessary to carry on these activities and plans yearly two dances for the enjoyment of the whole school. The first of this year's dances was held in an exact duplicate of the College Inn at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago. The second was a Valentine Hop with all the necessary hearts and cupids.

The programs of the meeting, which were held every other week, are made up of outside speakers, school speakers, and student talent. Mr. E. J. Gallmeyer, Fort Wayne postmaster, was an outstanding outside speaker during the first part of this year. Another interesting program was made up of students who gave talks based upon interviews with prominent persons in Fort Wayne.

We must not forget the parties! The first one was a "weiner bake" held in early October. At Christmas time, the Wranglers joined with the music department to celebrate the national holiday. The celebration consisted of an unusually clever play, "Reunion at Pine-knot Ranch", given by members of Wranglers, and a dance, in which couples could be found dancing in all parts of the halls. The orchestra was stationed under the clock near the music department.

The activities of the past year were carried out under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Virginia Benner, faculty adviser, and two sets of officers. Officers elected for 1931 were Herbert Merrill, president; Paul Mielke, vice-president; Mary Jane Kelsey, secretary; Jim Savage, treasurer; Billie Brunner, sergeant-at-arms; and Robert Parrish, the assistant sergeant-at-arms. Officers for the second term include the following:

All students who are interested in debating or public speaking are invited to become members of this club. The club meets twice a month, at which time they have discussions and interesting programs. This year the Wranglers revised their constitution and made it more strict than at any time before.

Art Club

Were you present at the meeting of the Art Club when Mr. A. Wells of the Fort Wayne Art School demonstrated clay modeling by blocking out a head before the meeting and explaining the process as he worked? Did you hear Mrs. Folsom's talk on England, illustrated by slides of things which interested all? If you were, you will agree that they were the most interesting of the 1931 meetings of the Art Club.

These unusually good programs were made possible through the combined efforts of Miss Erma Dochterman, the faculty adviser for the fall semester, and the club officers of the fall semester: President, Ralph Fitch; vice-president, Gertrude Jones; secretary-treasurer, Rhoda Toothill; and Richard Neuman, chairman of the social council.

An important feature in the 1932 meetings was a talk and the exhibit of his paintings by Mr. Homer G. Davisson of the Nashville Colony of Artists.

Calendar Books! These are a big feature of the Art Club because every member was supplied with a cleverly designed booklet which gave the information of all Art Club activities from February on through May.

This club took a big step this year by forming a new constitution. Also, it made a change in the number of officers by combining the offices of secretary and treasurer into one office.

In early April the Art Club had a dance—a Hurdy-Gurdy Dance, to be exact. With this interesting name there were equally as interesting decorations and costumes. Ye Good Old Cafeteria was transformed into a street scene in a foreign city with street lamps placed here and there to light the dance floor and with carts holding actual food vended on the street corners. The dancers were dressed in Parisian costumes and apparel suggesting a Bohemian idea. All this was planned by the social council, headed by Mary Jane Scott.

Miss Evelyn Bales was the faculty adviser for the 1932 term and the officers that worked with her were: Ralph Fitch, president; Mary Turner, vice-president; Jack Welch, secretary-treasurer; and Mary Jane Scott, chairman of the social council.

The Art Club was formed for the purpose of furthering the interests of art in high schools and establishing a standard of dress among students. It is open to all students who are interested in art. Dues of twenty-five cents a semester are charged each member. Meetings are held every other Wednesday at three thirty o'clock in the Greeley Room.

Student Players Club

Student Players' Club was organized to promote an interest in dramatics and to bring the three high schools of Fort Wayne closer together. This last point was accomplished in the fall through the initiation of the new members of the three schools at a tea dance held at North Side and in the spring by the initiation held at a nearby lake.

To become a member of this club one must attend for one semester the dramatic class which is held on Friday in the Greeley Room.

The semester's work this year consisted of a short play, "Lijah," given at a club meeting and the play "Gadgets", presented in the Study Hall for the students of the school. "Gadgets" was also acted at one of the monthly meetings and afterwards criticized by the members.

At a meeting early in the year Mr. Herman O. Makey of the English department talked on the difference between seeing and hearing a play.

The work of the year was carried out under the direction of Miss Suter and the officers for both semesters. Those who were elected for the fall were: President, John Slick; vice-president, Alice Grandy; secretary, Jane Vesey; and treasurer, Elizabeth Yaple. Those who held the offices for the spring semester were: President, Alice Grandy; vice-president, Adelbert Thompson; secretary, John Slick; and treasurer, Mary Angela Berkey.

Wo-Ho-Ma Club

This girls' club was formerly the Home Economics Club. Its name is derived from three words which also express very briefly its purpose: "Worthy Home Makers". Expressed in full, its three main purposes are to establish friendship among high school girls, to further interest in the Home Economics department, and to make the members of more service to home and community. The first term's officers were Irene Klingler, president; Wilma Baumgartner, vice-president; and Marian Johnson, secretary-treasurer. The officers for the second term were Clara Shively, president; Wilma Bleke, vice-president; and Grace Butler, secretary-treasurer.

Under the supervision of the faculty advisers, Miss Lucy Mellen and Miss Pearl Rehorst, Wo-Ho-Ma had a most successful year. At Miss Mellen's suggestion the club adopted as its theme for the year the subject, "Worthy Use of Leisure Time." Under this head, discussions of sports, music, reading, travel, art, and theater were held. The club also employed a merit system of giving honors to those girls who rendered outstanding service to the club. The girls receiving awards under this system are June Dalzell, Clara Shively, Marian Johnson, and Maxine Covert.

Socially, Wo-Ho-Ma had quite a successful year, also. The club held a picnic during the fall term, at which everyone had a good time. During the spring term the club held two very enjoyable parties.

Girls' Glee Club

Under Mr. Roland Schafer's direction the music department had another very active and successful year.

As their Christmas offering the Girls' Glee Club, together with the Boys' Glee Club, the orchestra, and the choir of the Plymouth Congregational Church, presented "The First Noel" at Plymouth Church on December 20. This was very inspiring and impressive. An appreciative audience packed the church.

On February 19 and 20, the annual operetta was presented by the music department. This year's operetta was "Robin Hood." The feminine lead was very capably handled by Ardis Locker as the lovely Lady Marian. Nancy Yapp also had an important soprano part as Lady Lotta. Outstanding contralto leads were taken by Harriet Dunlap, Ruth Ann Larimore, and Irene Klingler. Of not a little importance were the choruses, which were responsible for their share of the success of the play. The operetta was featured by lovely costumes, unusual stage settings, and splendid lighting effects. It was a fine production in every respect.

Boys' Glee Club

The Boys' Glee Club, under the direction of the talented Mr. Roland Schafer, has shown South Side in the past year what they are able to do.

The boys work with a great interest and because of this fact, they are able to accomplish many things. Early in the fall the Boys' Glee Club started working on some songs which they sang at the Northeastern Indiana Teachers' Association Convention at North Side High School. Directly after this they started work on the concert held at the Harrison Hill auditorium, which proved very successful. This concert took the place of Minstrel Show of former years.

At Christmas time the Boys' Glee Club helped the Girls' Glee Club and the Plymouth choir to put on the Christmas cantata in good form. When the Young Women's Christian Association was holding its drive for new members the Boys' Glee Club kindly helped to put on a radio program for this occasion. At different times they have been asked to sing at churches, clubs and dedications. However, the Operetta, on which the boys and also the girls worked very hard, was the main project of the year and they were repaid by the great success of the production.

Band

Each year the band seems to retain that habit of growing, and we wonder where they are going to get extra uniforms. This year it numbers 53; but we don't worry since the students, to some extent, are trying to show their appreciation of the band by selling magazine subscriptions to raise funds to purchase new uniforms. Last year about one-half enough money was obtained.

Speaking of habits, the band also has that good habit of being more successful each year than the previous year. Of course, much credit is due to the supervision of Mr. Roland L. Schafer. This year he was well assisted by the director, Ralph Warriner; drum major, James Kirby; and point keeper, Loren Yaggy, who was also the director during the tournaments.

Since we are of an inquisitive turn of mind, we wonder what this point keeper does. He keeps a record of the points earned by the members of the band. How do they get points? Well, one is given for attendance for a semester, three each for attitude and ability, and five for being director, drum major, or point keeper. Five points are required for credit, and the upper third receive rewards.

Orchestra

Due to the loss of several good members by graduation the orchestra had a slow start; but, under the capable direction of Mr. Roland Schafer, it soon developed into one of the best in the history of the school. The orchestra, which consisted of forty-two members, played for the dedication of the Louis C. Ward School, the Christmas Cantata, the Boys' Glee Club concert, the Operetta, the Senior Play, the Lettermen's banquet, the School Masters' banquet, the National Honor Society banquet, and the Commencement exercises.

At all of these performances, it was received with ovation by the audience. Every week for two days each week the members practiced in Room 38. Their music did not bother the classes near, but, rather, soothed the nerves of the students. Much credit must go to Ralph Fitch, the pianist, who played faithfully for the orchestra for four years.

Kenneth Sinish

The orchestra, consisting of select players of the school, appears at all public performances in which the music department has a part. If a student plays in the orchestra for four years, he is rewarded by being given one credit. Credit is also given for one whole year of work.

One boy who contributed a great deal to the success of the orchestra was Kenneth Sinish. He has been in this organization for three years and has been loyal and helpful as an assistant to Mr. Roland Schafer.

Philalethian Society

This club, which was founded in 1922, is, as the name implies, a literary organization. Its purpose is to develop in its members an appreciation of the fine arts, especially literature, and to promote friendship and high ideals among the girls. All 10A, junior, and senior girls who have B grades in English are eligible to the club, and may apply for membership by writing a formal note of application to Miss Demaree, the faculty adviser.

The officers for the fall term were Mary Angela Berkey, president; Doris Vance, vice-president; Mary Jane Zimmerman, secretary; Helen Bender, treasurer; and Mary Jane Stults, sergeant-at-arms. Mary Angela Berkey remained president during the spring term, and the other offices were filled by Gertrude Jones, vice-president; Mary Suter, secretary; Mary Katherine Cassidy, treasurer; and Mary Jane Zimmerman, sergeant-at-arms. Betty Spangle was chairman of the social and program committee for the entire year.

The program for each meeting was composed of outstanding literary and musical compositions, and each meeting had some particular value to the girls.

Philo also has quite an extensive social program. The opening event this year was the fall picnic held in a beautiful woods, where the girls had a jolly time. One of the outstanding social events was the Philo Gridiron dance, held in the school cafeteria the night before the Central-South Side football game, and attended by a capacity crowd. The cafeteria was appropriately decorated with college and high school pennants. The ceiling and the goal posts at either end of the cafeteria were decorated in the colors of the three high schools. Besides these events, a theater party was held each term, as is customary. Of unusual importance was the musicale, which was in charge of Doris Vance as program chairman, and was held at Nancy Kent's home on Tuesday, January 12. Here it was demonstrated that Philo girls have musical talent as well as literary ability. The annual St. Patrick Day banquet was held, and it also marked the tenth anniversary of the club.

The final social events of the year were the senior party and spring picnic, which were very fitting ways to close the school year and to send the seniors out into life with happy remembrances of the Philo Literary Society.

The colors of the club are white and gold; the flowers are the chrysanthemum and the daffodil. This club does a great amount of charity work each year. Most of the programs are of a strictly literary nature, but each year they give a musicale. Also each year they present two plays. Meetings of this group are held every other Monday in the Greeley Room.

So-Si-Y Club

The purpose of So-Si-Y is that of the Girl Reserve organization—"To find and give the best". The officers for the fall term were: President, Vivian Finze; vice-president, Esther Howell; secretary, Dorothy Holmes; treasurer, Mary Jane Kelsey. The service, social, publicity and membership chairmen were Valette Bechtold, Mary Bell, Helen Bender, and Dorothy Seiler, respectively. The officers for the spring term were: President, Valette Bechtold; vice-president, Helen Bender; secretary, Jean Funk, and treasurer, Mary Suter. The service, social, publicity, and membership chairmen were Lillian Scheiman, Doris Vance, Catherine Coulon and Ruth Rohrbaugh.

The club carried on a very active service program this year. Some of its accomplishments were sending post cards to the United States Veterans' Hospital at Oakwood, Ky., delivering Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets to the poor and needy in Fort Wayne, filling a "treasure chest" to send to Porto Rico, and making a quilt for the school dispensary.

The girls played, as well as worked, for they had several enjoyable parties. There was a big Christmas party, and also a Bon Voyage party. This party, which was in charge of Helen Bender and Doris Vance, was carried out in accordance with the theme of the spring term, "The Voyage of Life". It was held the first meeting of the spring term, and there were eighty-one girls present, over seventy of them having their dues paid. The meetings were all very interesting. At one outstanding meeting a group of girls presented an old-fashioned play, "Girl Reserve Meeting in 1881", and at the next meeting another group of girls presented an ultra-modern play, "Girl Reserves of 1981." The Girl Reserve clubs of all three high schools united to give a big dance at South Side after the sectional tournament, which was attended by students from various towns in this part of the state. The proceeds from this dance went to meet the Girl Reserve pledge to the Y. W. C. A.

This year a new merit system was established for Girl Reserves. There are three degrees, triangle, double triangle, and triple triangle. A girl may receive her degree according to the service she has rendered to her club, her school, her community, and through a world fellowship project. The first girls in So-Si-Y to receive the highest of these honors, the triple triangle degree, were Vivian Finze, Esther Howell, Wanita Steck, Dorothy Holmes, Doris Vance, Mary Suter, Lillian Ritcha, Mary Katherine Cassidy, and Catherine Coulon.

U. S. A. Club

George Anna Martin

The letters in the name of this club stand for Unity, Service, and Appreciation, and well express the aims of the organization. The faculty advisers are Miss Grace Mellen and Miss Elizabeth Kelley. The officers for the fall term were Marian Johnson, president; Marcella Koop, vice-president; Georgianna Augspurger, secretary, and Dorothy Garling, treasurer. The service, social, membership, and publicity chairmen are Betty Ringwalt, Pauline Crabill, Juanita Loy, and Arleta Swartz respectively. The officers for the spring term were: President, Marcella Koop; vice-president, Pauline Crabill; secretary, Marian Johnson; and treasurer, Mary Osborne. The service, social, membership, and publicity chairmen for the spring term were respectively Rosalind Enz, Aletha Hatfield, Dorothea Nance, and Helen Sherwood.

In the way of service, the club gave Thanksgiving baskets, and the Needlework Guild made several useful articles. The second term activities consisted of group projects and individual work. Under the new honor system recently established for Girl Reserves, several U. S. A. girls received the highest of the three honors, the Triple Triangle degree.

The club held a membership party the first meeting of each term. In addition there was a Halloween party, and a Christmas party and play the first term. In March a pot-luck was held, and in May was given in honor of their mothers the Mother-Daughter tea.

Meterites Club

The Meterite Club is a literary club for freshman and sophomore girls. Its purpose is to instill in its members an appreciation of and a desire for good literature. During the fall term the club studied myths and legends. During the spring term the girls made attempts to create verse. Many of the girls turned in quite commendable poems. Mr. Null selected Hester Ball "club poet." Hester won this honor by virtue of four splendid poems which she herself wrote. They were entitled "The Day When School Is Out," "And Wait," "The Lillies' Tea," and "Land of Happiness."

The officers during the fall term were Edith Spangle, president; Clarabelle Chenoweth, vice-president; Edythe Cale Edith Spangle, Phyllis Graham, Clarabell Chenoweth, Edythe Thornton.

Thornton, secretary; and Phyllis Graham, treasurer. The officers for the spring term are Betty Brothers, president; Betty English, vice-president; Alma Nitzche, secretary; and Ruth Fryback, treasurer. Miss Susen Peck is faculty adviser.

The club had a pot-luck supper, and afterwards attended the theater. In May the girls paid tribute to their mothers by entertaining them with a Mother-Daughter tea. Both of these events are traditional with the club's social calendar.

Senior Hi-Y Club

The Senior Hi-Y, with Mr. William A. Willer as faculty adviser, has carried out a very extensive club program this year. The officers for the fall term were Robert Null, president; Robert Maxwell, vice-president; and Phil Domer, treasurer. Wendell Lanning served as secretary. For the spring term the officers were Robert Maxwell, president; John Schmidt, vice-president; Robert Harper, secretary; and Bill Koch, treasurer. The newly created office of chaplain was filled by Robert Jack. The club meets every Thursday at the Y. M. C. A., at which time a short business meeting is held, and is followed by a period of educational entertainment. The purpose of the Senior Hi-Y, and also of the Junior Hi-Y and the Torch Club, is "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community a high standard of Christian character." The slogan is "Clean speech, clean sportsmanship, clean living, and clean scholarship."

The organization has been very active during this past year. Several members of the club worked at the football and basketball games and also at the sectional and regional tournaments. In addition, they served as guides for the parents on "Back to School Night," at the dedication of the new L. C. Ward School building, and also at the Boys' Glee Club concert.

Junior Hi-Y Club

The Junior Hi-Y is a new addition to the "Y" clubs in South Side. It was organized this year with Mr. William A. Willer as the faculty adviser. The first group of active officers was: Vice-president, Robert Rinehart; secretary, Bill McCahill; treasurer, Gale Rinehart. The officers for the spring term were: President, Bill McCahill; vice-president, Sterling Hoffman; secretary, Charles Strawbridge; treasurer, James Schrom. Richard Spaw was the chaplain. Meetings are held every Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. at which time there is a short business session, an address by a prominent speaker, and a period of entertainment.

The main service project of the Junior Hi-Y is sponsoring the Torch Club. Dale Perkins is the adviser for the Torch Club. The Junior Hi-Y's made some interesting tours during the year. They visited the city jail, the weather bureau, and Dr. Bower's Museum of Natural History.

A marshmallow-weiner bake was held during the fall term, and also one during the spring term. For the purpose of raising money to pay for the Totem pictures, the Junior Hi-Y's sponsored a skating party which was attended by a large crowd. They also participated in the dance held at the Y. W. C. A., sponsored by all Hi-Y and Girl Reserve organizations in the three high schools.

Travel Club

"From Alaskan Shores down to Timbuctoo

By dog-team, elephant, or what have you—"

From this small part of one of the new Travel Club songs one may gather something of what the club strives to accomplish in its meetings. Each semester the entire time is spent in an intensive study of one particular country. The fall term this year was devoted to a study of Mexico. This study included all phases of Mexican development.

The outstanding meetings were those in which Miss Catherine Smeltzley of Central spoke on education, and Miss Foster on the home-life of the Mexican. Mr. Robinson, a gentleman working on the project of an international road from North America to South America, presented to the club an interesting lecture on Mexico from the viewpoint of an explorer.

The work of the fall semester was carried out under the direction of Miss Mabel Thorne and Miss Olive Perkins, faculty advisers.

At the time of Washington's birthday there was an excellent patriotic meeting during which the dedication service of the tree planted in Washington's honor was carried out.

The spring semester was devoted to a study of the Orient. Discussions were held and talks were given on India, China, Japan, and Indo-China.

Forensics

An entirely new public speaking program was installed this year by Miss Dorothy Benner, public speaking instructor. This plan provided for inter-class debates and extemporaneous speaking contests. So that this plan might be installed, it was necessary that all inter-school contests be discontinued. Miss Benner stated that this new plan was devised so that more students could have experience in public speaking.

The first contest held under this plan was the first semester extemp contest. Those speakers who survived the eliminations were Harold Meigs, Walter Doehrman, Kenneth Sinish, and Eugene Grant. Eugene Grant, who spoke on the subject, "Who Shall Go to College?" won first place. Harold Meigs took second place.

In the second semester's extemp contest, seven speakers participated. These spur - of - the - moment speakers were Doris Vance, Herbert Merrill, Harold Meigs, Warren Baker, Maurice Rieke, Stephen Pierson, and Winfield Moses. "Should the Proposed Sales Tax Be Adopted?" was the subject on which the winner, Warren Baker, spoke. Doris Vance placed second.

During the interval between these two contests Miss Benner announced the subjects for the underclassmen discussion. Elimination debates were held in the English classes. Edward Hornick won the Sophomore championship, while Van Perrine won the honor of being the best Freshman talker.

Four Year Honor Roll

The biggest achievement and honor that a high school student can obtain is a place on the four year honor roll. To attain the honor that this affords, a student must have an average of more than 90 percent during his four years' work and must have attended South Side two years.

Fifty-four seniors were recently named on this honor roll, all of them having lived up to these qualifications. Of this number only thirteen were boys; the rest were girls.

Among these Esther Howell and Mary Jane Zimmerman had the highest averages. Esther, who was valedictorian, had an average of 96.76; Mary Jane Zimmerman, the salutatorian, had an average of 96.46.

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, says of these students, "In any group there always appear those who make the most of their opportunities, those who lead in their activities. This group deserves especial commendation for their industry, application, and sincerity of purpose."

Most of the members of the four year honor roll were prominent in school activities and gained recognition by their efforts in school. Some of them were selected for the National Honor Society, and some of them were selected for the Quill and Scroll National Honor Society.

National Honor Society

Because they had lived up to high standards and to the necessary qualities that enable one to be elected to the highest honor that the school can bestow, the National Honor Society, forty-four seniors were elected to this honor from this year's graduating class. Seven of these seniors were chosen on December 18, and thirty-four were chosen on April 6. They were made known by the tag system throughout the day. Each one selected was given a green and white ribbon as a symbol of the honor.

From the January graduating class Vivian Finze, Ralph Fitch, Loretta Foellinger, Charlotte Gillie, Esther Howell, Mary Jane Nelson, and Robert Null were chosen. Those selected from the May graduating class are Valette Bechtold, Helen Bender, Mary Angela Berkey, Mary Catherine Cassidy, Margaret Colson, Catherine Coulon, Robert Clymer, Frank Dulin, Jack Fleming, Lucile Frost, Betty Fryback, Eugene Grant, Donald Hall, Suzanne Haven, Samuel Henderson, Gertrude Jones, Viola Krockenberger, Richard Mariotte, John H. In order to become a member of the National Honor Society a student must possess four qualities, namely, leadership, scholarship, service, and character. Mr. Herman O. Makey, who, with the aid of the Booster Club, obtained the Promethean chapter for South Side, has defined scholarship as an attitude and a love of learning. One must be in the upper third of the class in grades to obtain this honor. This does not mean that the entire upper third of the class is selected for this society, for only fifteen per cent of the entire senior class may be chosen.

At an assembly held on April 6, the members were introduced by Mr. R. N. Snider, after Mr. Makey had explained about the qualifications necessary. Mr. Makey is chairman of the faculty election board, which chooses the members. Others on the board are Miss Mabel Thorne, Miss Gertrude Oppelt, Herbert Voorhees, and Earl Murch. Miss Pittenger and Mr. Snider are ex-officio members.

Quill and Scroll

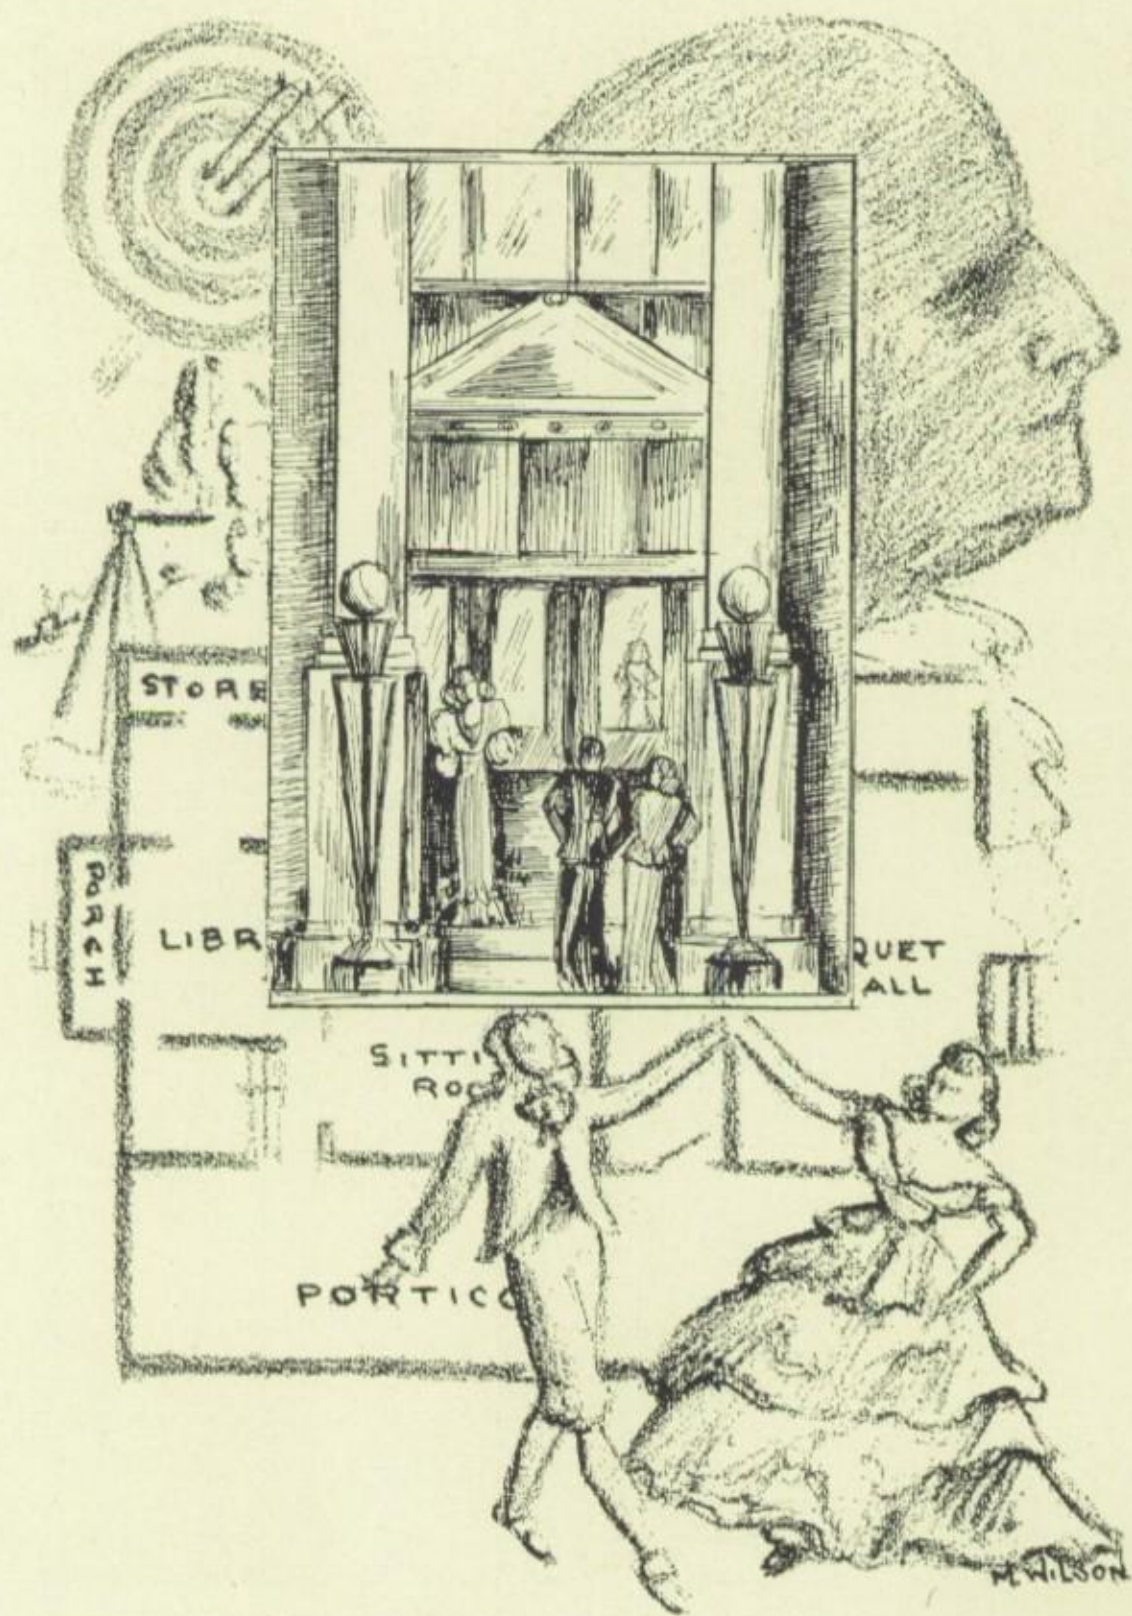

At a potluck held in the Times Room on April 20, six students were named members of the Quill and Scroll, the National Honor Society for High School Journalists. These students were presented with pins symbolic of the organization and a year's subscription to the Quill and Scroll magazine, the official magazine of the society.

Only six members were chosen from this year's graduating class. Mary Angela Berkey, Loretta Foellinger, Charlotte Gillie, Eugene Grant, Richard Mariotte, and John Obringer were those selected by Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser of The Times and The Totem. These students were selected because of their outstanding work in journalism and because they were in the upper third of the class in scholastic standing.

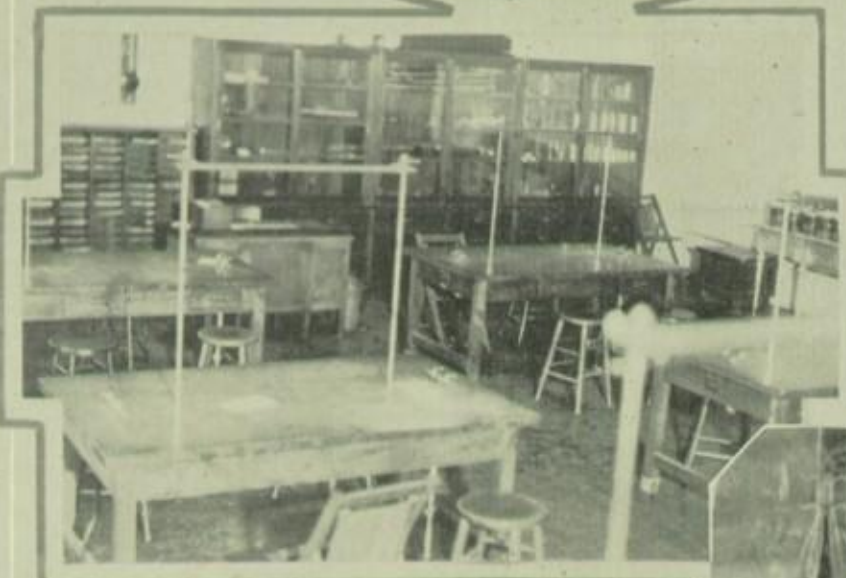

Although the name Quill and Scroll is usually applied to this organization, its correct name is the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists. Headquarters for the society are at the Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University.

During her four years at South Side, Mary Angela Berkey has been very active in newspaper work, being a feature writer and society editor. This year she was senior class editor for the Totem. Loretta Foellinger has been very active in publication work also. She has held several positions on The Times during her time at South Side. She worked up from a reporter to the highest position on the staff, namely, general manager. Charlotte Gillie held several positions on The Times before she changed her work to The Totem. She was one of the circulation managers of this year's annual.

Eugene Grant, Richard Mariotte, and John H. Obringer are comparative newcomers to the field of journalism, but all have proved their ability in their respective lines. John is Totem editor, which position he has very capably filled. Eugene is an assistant to the Totem editor. He contributed much to the success of The Totem this year and proved to be a capable assistant. Richard Mariotte served on several positions on the Times staff before becoming business manager for the last term.

Diary of a Senior

September 8—Tra-la-la, the freshies are comin'; the freshies are comin'; the freshies are here! and how! Poor John Grandy. Remember when he was placed in the fountain by some obliging seniors? The picture here is a typical picture of all of this year's freshmen. Aren't they just too cute?

September 9—The school day has been lengthened ten minutes I found out this afternoon. Why couldn't they have waited until next year when I will not be here. I hope!

September 10—Margaret Crankshaw evidently thought that she was somebody because she entered a VERGIL class, comprised of dignified seniors. She was just a little insect in a bunch of roses.

September 11—I went out to see the football men practice today. My, but they are tough. It looks as though we're going to have a good football team this year. (mirabile visu).

September 12—Have you subscribed to The Times and Totem yet? It's only seventy-five cents for The Times and two dollars for the Totem. Such were the statements made by our graceful Charlotte (Carlot) Gillie and Leon Underwood, as the drives started for subscriptions.

September 15—It seems to me that "Corridor Cracks" Parrish is just a little bit too bright. When you consider the person, you can easily see why.

September 16—Alfalfa Latin hit the school today. I think it's a carryover from the summer months. At least, there are a lot of people who think they are smart because they can talk over my head.—For example, Mr. Null and son, Bob.

September 23—I went to my first Travel Club meeting this afternoon. Say, they really have some good programs. I shall never forget the one I saw today.

September 24—With all this warm weather we're having it makes it hard to study in school. Especially when so many students have cars. The gutters of dear ole South Side look like a pageant of automobiles. Many of them are running on their reputations and the freshmen.

September 25—Today I attended the first of my last batch of Tea Dances. I bet Mary Jane Nelson and Loretta Foellinger make a lot of money. If the cafeteria could get as many students to eat at school at noons as go to the dances, they wouldn't be on the rocks. After witnessing today's performance, I think that the dances are just a good place for the beginner to try his skill. And the freshmen do their share of the trying.

September 29—This is Libby Yapple! Poor, little old Libby. She almost has wasted away. And she wants to be a dietician, imagine that! Well, anyway, she has been called the "God's Gift to Freshmen." See her picture? Isn't she stunning?

October 1—Thursday, October 1, 1931, was the date of the first World Series baseball games. The Greeley Room was crowded with seniors who had study the seventh or eighth. Only seniors can get away with that stuff.

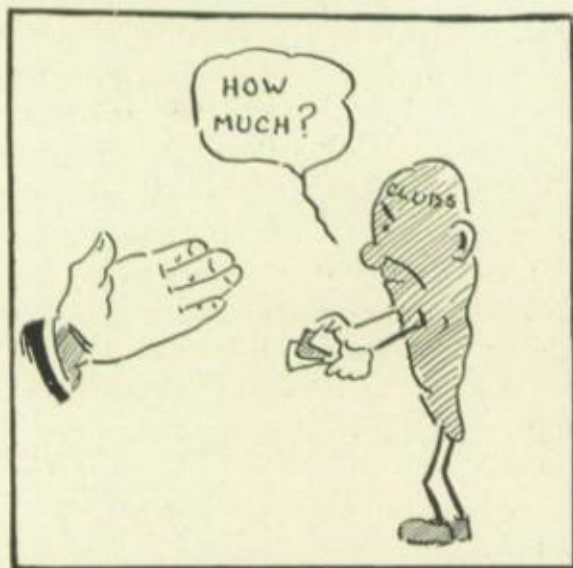

October 1—Now that school has started again, baseball games have also. Mr. Gilbert forgot to start his chemistry class until the game was over. Nice guy, this W. O. G.

October 3—At last I got to see our team in action. We whitewashed Bluffton to the tune of 56-0. Even some of the stars to be got in the mixup. For the first time in South Side's history pop corn was sold at the games. What is more enjoyable than pop, hot dogs, and pop corn at a football game?

October 2—Oh! Have you seen him? You haven't! You'd better. He's charming and darling. Who is he? None other than our Totem editor. John H. himself. His good looks are shown by the accompanying snap.

October 4—Let's mob Miss Covalt. She has charge of all the candy and eats and money for the Booster Club. And I'm hungry and broke.

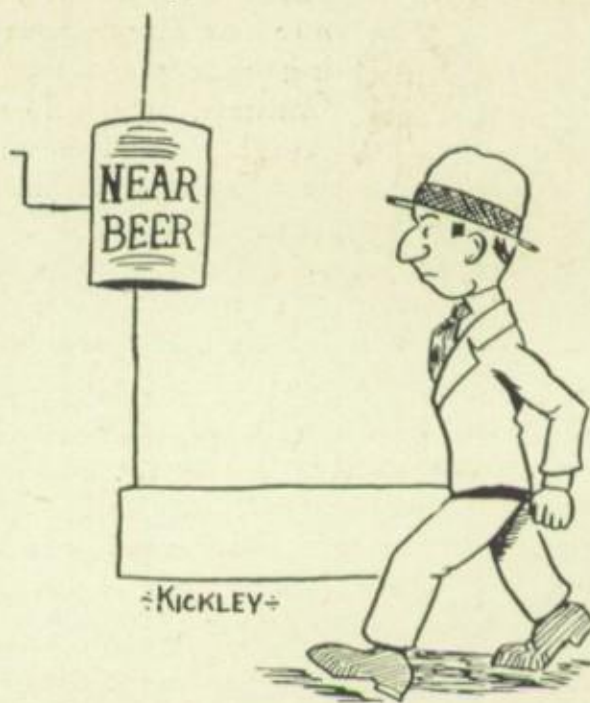

October 8—Clubs have begun their campaign for memberships now, and it's costing something. Look at poor, miserly Don Hall paying up for the So-Si-Y Club. Needless to say he is paying for Max Davenport.

October 9—Today is judgment day. The warning notices are sent from the office to deserving students. I hope I am lucky.

October 10—(Censored.)

October 12—All classes except the freshmen had elections today. They are too young even to know who their classmates are. Again Frank Dulin was chosen as our leader. This is his fourth term, so he must be capable. Sam Henderson is vice-president, and Mary Jane Zimmerman is secretary. Don Hall, Gertrude Jones, and Mary Angela Berkey comprise the social council. We ought to be able to do things with such officers. Several things should be done with them.

October 15—Eugene Grant, we have heard, likes beer, as does Miss Pittenger, if it's in bottles. Therefore, he has bought a beer suit. We got this snap from Mary Challenger, who is champion tumbler at South Side. Not a glass tumbler.

October 16—Today Mr. Schafer started the weekly music appreciation programs. My, but the library was crowded. The cafeteria was also well patronized by those who like to prance.

October 17—Wabash, on the Banks of the Wabash, took a good ducking from our Archers. We have a wonderful team. At least we beat them 22-0.

October 22—Today the final drive for the Totem started. We must have 800 subscriptions by the end of the month or no Totem. It's up to our class. Gee, I hope we get enough.

October 30—Tonight we beat North Side in a football game. It was the first game I ever saw played at night. And did it rain? It was a continual downpour from start to finish, but everyone stuck to his post. Our Archers succeeded in whipping the Redskins 20-6. It was only the second touchdown scored against us this season. One of Miss Burns' freshmen thought that "Touchdown" was a character in Ivanhoe. Oh, to be in England now that spring is there.

October 7—We hear that Little Jimmie Emaline Kettering recently lost a fountain pen. So he bought a microscope at Franklin's dump heap and started to search for it. He finally found it in his shirt pocket. We did obtain a picture of him in his search. Not from Challenger.

October 20—Myra Berry opened her broadcasting station in English class today. She got started and had to be stopped by the bell. Moreover, she insisted that Belle Isle is in New York. She has been to New York.

October 21—Isn't the ancestry of South Side High interesting? I went to sleep only ten times on the first sentence.

October 25—Oh! Oh! Plagiarizing!

Howard Ropa is the guilty person. He tried to imitate Morton Downey. Here's how he looked. Scenery by Miss Miller. Clothing by Cut-Rate store located on Calhoun Street.

November 5—I guess South Side really played football Friday. Whata-man Domer!

November 12—Seniors, your pictures must be taken before Christmas vacation. The cost per picture is one dollar as formerly. Very few seniors have as yet paid their dollar. Did someone mention the word depression?

November 19—Have you heard the latest? Some brilliant stude answered a question thusly: "Floods from the Mississippi may be prevented by putting big dames in the river." No, it wasn't Chuck Phelps.

November 23—And did you see Chuck Burt tripping the light fantastic Friday at the tea dance? He may be a nice boy, but he surely can shake a mean shoulder when they play "Egyptian Ella". What would mother say, Charles?

November 25—Tomorrow's the day that we will be holding our tummies and saying "Why, oh why, did I eat that last piece of turkey?" Now don't say I didn't warn you.

October 27—Ed Cook has proved to be a cook. He likes stew, so he made some hash. Reminded me of the stuff from the cafeteria. He is seen testing the food on a rat. The cafeteria ought to test their food, too. No wonder students are absent so much.

October 29—Myron Guillot entertained his chemistry class today by spouting off about something that he didn't know. He reminded me of Jim Savage. Talks a lot, and says nothing. Since he said nothing, his picture has not been included. Take that and that and that.

December 3—Mr. Flint's algebra classes are making graphs of the stock market. All they've had to do so far is draw a line straight down the page.

December 11—Mr. Schafer continued his music appreciation series in Room S this a. m. The janitors took advantage of the occasion by varnishing all the seats.

December 17—Today Loretta Foelinger was chosen the new Times head. Like father, like daughter; papa love mama, and so forth; ad infinitum.

December 23—The National Honor Society again was reinforced by some S. S. studes. F'r some reason, I was overlooked. Among those elected was Bob Null, doubtlessly chosen because of his towering intellect. Arf-arf.

December 28—Urk! Urk! How superb, how glorious, how unspeakably unspeakable to be able to wallow in bed, to wallow in snow, to wallow in galoshes, to wallow in joy. Oh! Walla-Walla!

December 29—Today was distinguished by the heap big charity fray at North Side, which incidentally cost 60 cents. Charity me eye!

December 30—Poor Martha Wilson.

She tried to commit suicide twice. First she tasted some copper sulphate crystals, then she spilled sulphuric acid on her. Pictured at the left is Martha after she recovered.

December 31—Today is the day on which not a dog-gone thing of importance happened. (The only one like it was January 15, grade card day.)

January 1—This is the day we make resolutions, and tomorrow is the day we break 'em. Bear up, stout fella!

January 2—South Side 20, Columbia City 19. And an overtime at that. Fleming surely pulled the game out of the fire by that last bucket. Keep it up, Jack.

January 7—Have you noticed Mary Jane Zimmerman and little bitty Wallace Rusher? The way she dances "snuggled on his shoulder". How I go on.

January 18—Student Players' dance and initiation at North Side. Wasn't that some snooty dance?

January 24—Again the Wranglers put over a successful dance. But have you heard D. W. hocked about $4.00 worth of ice cream.

February 2—Harry Offut and Bill Gerding are the only two aviators in the senior class. They turn some fancy tailspins. What an ideal place to take my suppressed desire.

February 7—I went down to the Forum this afternoon, and what a funny sight. I'll never forget some of these sights. I guess environment.

February 12—There was snow, snow this year hardly. The hairy snowballs were flying all around today.

February 19—The first Hi-Y skating party was held today. Many people, through no fault of their own, greatly increased their bustles. We hope there are many more parties out at Bell's.

February 20—Friday and Saturday night the South Side glee clubs were heard trying out their voices at the Harrison Hill auditorium. The object of this yelling was "Robin Hood". Wasn't Adelbertie and Ardis romantic in the love scene?

February 25—Mr. Merle Abbett, the new superintendent, sure made a hit today with all the girls in dear ole South Side. I hear that he is a wonderful sportsman. Hooray!

February 27—Today the Student Players' Club put on a play in the study hall. Its name was "Gadgets". It was the funniest thing I ever saw. Didn't you nearly break down in tears when "Lucy" Slick said he had only three months to live? Imagine us without him! I didn't even suspect Eugenia Grant to fall in love with Betty Spangle.

March 3—I had a large time this week at the Hi-Y roller skating epic. Pride goeth before a fall. Sore joints go after one.

March 10—The sectional tournament last week. Nuf sed.

March 18—Composing the boys' quartet this year were Adelbert Thompson, John Brubaker, Warren Baker, and John Inches.

Through out the year they entertained throngs with their excellent music. Pictured at left is a characteristic pose of these singers singin' the depression away.

March 19—Bluffton carried off the regional honors last week. Bluffton was carried off by the referees; the referees were carried off by the cops; the cops were carried off by the spirit of the occasion; the occasion was carried off with success.

March 20—See the crowd. Hear them cheer as Wayne Trulock scores another sensational basket to win the game by one point. Wayne has fainted; therefore this picture is not shown.

March 24—The seniors are beginning to practice for the play. I offered my services to Miss Suter, but they were not appreciated for some reason.

March 25—Mr. Snider has been superintending spelling contests. His actions are the climax of a long search to discover the correct spelling of Skenectaddy.

March 26—For bright cracks the senior play cast takes the cromium-plated ear muffs. For four weeks Ernie Blum has been saying, "Mrs. Dreary, you are making a mountain out of a mole hole." Funny his tongue slipped four weeks. John (Lucy) Slick proved his debating ability in more than one argument. The word "energetics" (eugenics) is one word (of many) that Lucy didn't exactly understand. However, Marj Suter did her derndest to increase his repertoire. Something every boy should know. Ask Franky (Wo-Ho-Ma) Smith or Dot Kelley for full particulars. Did you know that the aforementioned Wo-Ho-Ma Smith really paid his dues for this girls' club and wanted that club listed after his name in the Totem? How about So-Si-Y, Franklin dear (you chubby little devil)?

April 1—What a day! What a day! Everyone was pulling something on me. The Senior Play was no joke though. (I was in it!) Our class put on a play that the juniors will have a hard time equalling. The whole audience was in an uproar from start to finish. Why shouldn't they be with such jokes? To the tin shop over already yet, still.

April 4—Ben Bernie and Lowell Thomas will be here next month. Years from now they will be forgotten, I suppose. But I bet they will be swell while they last.

April 14—Dorothy Fatheur, a freshman, got all A+'s. That's something that the seniors didn't do this year. Poor me.

April 22—Today the school put on a pageant. All styles of girls' dresses since 1840 were displayed. Some nifty bathing suits were also on the program. One of the dresses had an exceedingly large bustle. Pat Savage and Charlotte Gillie thrilled the crowd with their graceful motions.

April 28—Tonight the National Honor Society had their banquet. They sure are a fine bunch of students.

May 6—The Junior Prom tonight. Remember last year when we were only juniors and "Mary had a little lamb."

May 7—It was Ben Bernie, now it is Isham Jones. I predict many a broken bone, many a sore foot, and many a heartache.

May 10—Don't we seniors look too clever, my dear, in our bow ties and hair ribbons and lollipops. My deah, this is so tha-ri-l-l-i-n-g!

May 18—Graduation day! And how cute little Sam Henderson did look.

Vivian Orr got a snapshot of him and gave it to us to put in this year's book. Here 'tis.

JOHN H. OBRINGER, Editor.

For the fifth consecutive year the Ozaki Studio was selected to make the class pictures for The Totem. During the previous years The Totem has received much favorable criticism on the photos which have appeared in it.

As in previous years we believe that the photography is of such quality that again only favorable comment will be made.
